

(UPDATED) 2016–17 NYSAA for Science and Social Studies “Not Tested” Form

Directions: Complete this form for each student for whom you have a missing or incomplete New York State Alternate Assessment (NYSAA) for Science and Social Studies datafolio by checking the term that describes the reason that the student was not assessed. For Science and Social Studies, submit this form and the student demographic data sheet (bubble sheet) to the Score Site Coordinator (SSC).

Student Identification Label:

Absent: The student was in attendance for fewer than 30 school days as a NYSAA for Science and Social Studies eligible student between September 26,—December 9, 2016, and it was determined that there was not enough time to assess the student.

Not Tested Due to Administrative Error (Administrative Error): The student appears in the Student Information Repository System (SIRS) as eligible to take the NYSAA, but no datafolio was collected for the student due to teacher or administrator error. (This term also applies when the student’s datafolio does not reach the scoring center.)

Not Enrolled at Time of Test Administration (Not Enrolled): The student left the district before a datafolio could be collected, or the student arrived in the district too late for the district to enter the student into SIRS as NYSAA eligible and assessment datafolio could not be completed.

Took Another Assessment to Fulfill Testing Requirement (Took Another Assessment): The student took another approved assessment (i.e., New York State general assessment, Regents competency test (or approved alternative), Regents examination (or approved alternative)) to fulfill the testing requirement in a particular content area.

Medically Excused: To be medically excused from taking the NYSAA for Science and Social Studies, the student must be too incapacitated to be assessed because of illness or injury resulting from a significant medical emergency, as documented by a medical practitioner, for more than 30 school days between September 26, —December 9, 2016. Students taking the NYSAA are not considered medically excused from testing because of their disability.

Refusal (Parent Refusal): The student was not administered the NYSAA for Science and/or Social Studies based on a parent refusal of the NYSAA assessment. This does NOT include students who unable to engage in the datafolio tasks at the time of the assessment for whom a valid score of zero is appropriate.
