Support Provided by RLTs

The role of an RLT is to provide support to the AATNS, SSCs, and educators in their assigned region. Each RLT has extensive experience with the NYSAA for Science and Social Studies, and can be a very useful resource to those in his or her region. RLTs can provide support via phone, email, or on-site throughout the administration and scoring windows.

The following are a few examples of ways that your RLT can help:

- Answer questions related to administration, scoring, or logistics
- Discuss ideas for assessment strategies for students with varied response modes
- Support collegial review of in-process datafolios during administration
- Provide on-site assistance for AATN- or SSC-led trainings
