

New York first identified schools as persistently lowest achieving in January 2009. Each of the 57 identified schools will at a minimum implement elements of a transformation, restart, closure or turnaround model beginning in the 2010-11 school year. New York will report in August 2010 the number of schools that have been approved to fully and effectively implement each of the four intervention models in the 2010-11 school year.

Persistently Lowest Achieving Schools Identified in 2009-10

Indicator (d)(3)	Provide, for the State, the number and identity of the schools that are Title I schools in improvement, corrective action, or restructuring, that are identified as persistently lowest-achieving schools.

* Since the Federal definition of a "persistently lowest achieving school" was not in effect in 2009, SED is reporting as turned around, restarted, closed or transformed any Title I school that was under registration review for any period of time between January 2009 to January 2010. This includes schools that were newly identified for or removed from registration review or schools under registration review that closed during this period.

Indicator (d)(6)	Provide, for the State, of the persistently lowest-achieving schools that are non Title I secondary schools in improvement, corrective action, or restructuring, the number and identity of those schools that have been turned around, restarted, closed, or transformed.*
