NCLB core academic subjects are: English, reading, language arts, mathematics, science, history, geography, economics, civics and government, foreign languages and the arts.

Which teaching assignments on the BEDS list are CORE?

Number of Asterisks Next to BEDS Teaching Assignment Code	Status of the Teaching Assignment
0	NOT CORE
1	CORE
2	MAY BE CORE It depends on information only available in the school.

Which “MAY BE CORE” teaching assignments are CORE?

Career and Technical Education (CTE) classes. A CTE class is CORE only when used for credit in a core academic subject for a high school diploma. When a certified CTE teacher does not use the Collaborative Teaching Model to teach such a class, the class is CORE for that CTE teacher. When a certified CTE teacher does use the Collaborative Teaching Model to teach such a class, the class is NOT CORE for the CTE teacher and CORE for the collaborating teacher.

Special Education and other classes. Special education and other classes are CORE only when teachers provide direct instruction in a “core academic subject” grades K through 12 as the teacher of record for that subject.
