Selected Internal Control Practices for School Districts

Introduction

The purpose of this document is to provide districts with a list of key internal controls. Districts should have internal controls in place to ensure their goals and objectives are accomplished; laws, regulations, and sound business practices are complied with; assets are safeguarded; and accurate and reliable data are maintained.

This document should be used as a guide in assessing the adequacy of controls in a district but should not be used in place of management's judgment nor should it be considered all-inclusive. The practices identified in this document are key indicators of an effective system of internal controls. Districts should compare these to its current practices and determine if the District's internal controls can be improved. When considering the implementation of any control, districts should consider the cost-effectiveness of the control.

The objective of internal controls is to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that goals are met; operations are efficient and effective; assets are protected; policies and the like are adhered to; and verifiable, timely, and up-to-date data is relied upon.

Additional information on internal controls is available from a variety of resources including the New York State Education Department (the Department), the Office of the State Comptroller (OSC), the New York State Society of CPAs, and others. We recommend you visit these organizations' web sites to obtain additional information on internal controls.

Please submit any questions, suggestions, or comments to the Department via the Office of Audit Services email address: FSandSingleAudit@nysed.gov, by mail at Office of Audit Services, NYS Education Department, 89 Washington Avenue, Room 524EB, Albany, NY 12234, or by telephone at (518) 473-4516.

16. The popular budget provided to District residents, in connection with the annual meeting or the budget hearing, has sufficient detail to adequately inform the public about the District's educational program and estimated revenues and appropriations.
17. The District has procedures in place to ensure it does not incur a liability in excess of the amount appropriated.
18. The District has procedures in place establishing approval for budget transfers within funds, as well as, increases/decreases in the budget. A formal budget amendment should be used to document any increase or decrease to the budget.
