A. District Overview

i. District strategy and theory of action to improve schools for college and career readiness

The New York City Department of Education's (NYCDOE)'s Chancellor's priorities guide our work to support our lowest achieving schools and ensure that all students graduate ready for college and careers. Our first priority is that we improve student outcomes through expert teaching. College and career readiness depends critically on the interaction between a student and teacher. Teachers must become masterful at developing students into independent and critical thinkers. Our teachers are working to implement curriculum aligned to the Common Core Learning Standards (CCLS) and adjusting their classroom practice to the standards.

The second priority is that the NYCDOE must provide high-quality school choices for all families. Great work between students and teachers happens in the context of effective schools with cultures of achievement. We are committed to ensuring that all families are able to choose from a range of excellent school options for their children.

Strong partnerships with families are essential to student success. Our goal is that college and career readiness for students will become the daily work not just of principals and teachers, but of students themselves and of all of those who care for them. The district works to establish and strengthen partnerships by engaging actively with families as partners in pursuit of common goals. We also work with community-based organizations to support our schools and families.

Finally, we must provide effective school support. School leaders need support to address their schools' operational needs and to help build the instructional skills required to accelerate students' progress toward college and career readiness. Our Cluster and Network organizational structure provides schools with instructional and operational support that are designed to fit each school's specific needs and focus on our citywide priorities.

ii. District approach and actions for its lowest-achieving schools

The NYCDOE has a clear approach and set of actions to support the turnaround of our lowest achieving schools which impacts our Priority Schools. Our school improvement process focuses on three areas that result in actions to ensure we have effective principals leading our schools, the support of community partners in our schools, and autonomy for our principals to create successful schools.

First, a great school starts with a great principal. Over the past decade we have learned the powerful role a principal can play as change agent. We use a set of leadership competencies and seek principals for our schools who have demonstrated the qualities of effective leadership.

Second, we need community partners to help us develop great schools. We have worked with local and national intermediary organizations to help us develop and scale schools. These partners provide critical start-up support, proven instructional models, and help push the thinking of our school leaders. We have also attracted high-performing public charter schools to New York City to bring an even greater breadth of quality options to public school families.

Finally, there is no one recipe for what makes a great school. There are conditions that contribute to an effective school – a mission, leadership, and expert teachers devoted to student success – but there are different ways of organizing a school to create these conditions, especially given the need to serve diverse student populations. We encourage leaders to be innovative and to leverage their expertise to develop creative models by empowering them to make school-level instructional and operational decisions.

iii. Evidence of district readiness for system-wide improvement of Priority Schools

The NYCDOE has created a school improvement and intervention process to build on our current strengths and identify opportunities for system-wide improvement. Evidence includes the NYCDOE's Struggling Schools Review Process, which identifies certain schools for intensive interventions and results in targeted plans for improvement for other schools. We have conducted a thorough analysis of our Priority Schools prepared to implement the Turnaround and Transformation models. We created a cross-functional Priority Schools district work group to examine school data trends, identify the appropriate intervention model for the school, and monitor each Priority School's progress under the selected intervention model.

In 2010, the New York State Education Department (NYSED) raised expectations for the quality of student work and teacher practice with the adoption of the CCLS. The NYCDOE has continued to work on meeting the challenge by introducing Charlotte Danielson's Framework for Teaching and creating our College and Career Readiness benchmarks. In 2011, these reforms led to the development of the first set of Citywide Instructional Expectations and the engagement of our school system in a long-term process of figuring out how to ensure that students at every grade level are on track to graduate from high school ready for college, careers, and other meaningful postsecondary opportunities.

In the fall of 2013, to support the shift in teaching practice required to help our students meet these higher standards, the NYCDOE will implement a new system of teacher evaluation and development. This change is critical because expert teaching is the most powerful tool for helping students reach these higher standards. Our Citywide Instructional Expectations combined with our Quality Review Rubric are intended to guide school communities as they work to create a rigorous and coherent instructional experience for students and educators.

B. Operational Autonomies

i. Operational autonomies for the Priority School

The principles and actions underlying the NYCDOE are leadership, empowerment, and accountability. Beginning in the 2007-08 school year, NYCDOE schools became autonomous, as principals and their teams gained broader discretion over allocating resources, choosing their staff, and creating programming for their students. Schools now have resources through the NYCDOE's Fair Student Funding (FSF) formula, which allocates funding based on student need. Principals chose the type of support that is best for their schools. A more detailed description of the autonomies follows.

Budgeting: School-based budget for the Priority School is based on the FSF formula. The Priority School also receives additional funding through Title I allocations to support its goals as a struggling school. Funding follows each student to the Priority School that he or she attends based on student grade level, with additional dollars based on need (academic intervention, English Language Learners, special education, high school program). The principal has discretion to use FSF and any additional funding the school receives and is held accountable by the Superintendent through a School Comprehensive Educational Plan (SCEP) review process. In addition, the School Leadership Team is the primary vehicle for developing school-based educational policies and ensuring that resources are aligned to implement those policies.

Staffing: The Priority School receives a FSF allocation based on their enrollment, and the school is charged for the cost of teachers out of that allocation. The principal is held accountable for staffing as part of the annual evaluation by the Superintendent. The school leader is given the resources necessary to provide career growth opportunities for the staff. School-based actions include opportunities for additional pay through professional development and extended day instructional programs. The Priority School can also choose to participate in district-level teacher leadership programs that support the retention and development of expert teachers at the school. The Priority School is encouraged to participate in district-run teacher leadership programs to support the retention and development of expert teachers at their school.

Program selection: The principal may partner with one of nearly 60 Networks based on common priorities: grade levels, similar student demographics, and/or shared educational philosophies and beliefs. Some Networks focus on instructional models that support particular groups of students, such as high school students who are over-aged and under-credited. Others are organized around project-based learning or leadership development. Networks offer school communities school support options and let them determine which will best serve their students, staff, and their entire community. The school is also supported by Community and High School Superintendents, who communicate regularly with parent associations as well as other parent leaders and supervise district family advocates.

Educational partner selection: Schools have autonomy in selecting education partners that have been formally contracted by the NYCDOE after a rigorous vetting process. The NYCDOE oversees a Request for Proposal process from organizations experienced in working with schools in need of school improvement. Potential partners are required to provide a comprehensive whole school reform design for developing and maintaining effective school functions, while integrating specific plans to improve instruction, assessment, classroom management, and staff professional development. Accountability plans for the partner must be included based on annual evaluations of student progress in the Priority School. If progress is not evident, then the work with the partner is discontinued.

Use of Time During and After School: The Priority School has several opportunities for autonomy in the use of time during and after school. The school has the option to have Supplemental Educational Service (SES) providers support students through extended learning time. Community-based organizations selected by the Priority School also provide students with social-emotional health and counseling services. Schools can utilize a School-Based Option (SBO) to create flexible use of time. The SBO process allows individual schools to modify provisions in the Collective Bargaining Agreement related to class size, rotation of assignments or classes, teacher schedules and/or rotation of paid coverage for the school year. In the SBO process the school community creates a plan for how to effectively implement extended learning time. The principal and UFT chapter leader must agree to the proposed modification which is presented to school union members for vote. Fifty-five percent of the UFT voting members affirm the proposed SBO in order for it to pass. The intent of this type of SBO is to empower the school community on how to best make use of time before, during, and after school.

i. Evidence of formal policies on school autonomy

The NYCDOE provides organizational support to Priority Schools to reduce barriers and provide greater flexibility. The Office of State Portfolio Policy (OSPP) in the Division of Portfolio Planning (DPP) is designed to work with Priority Schools to determine their whole school reform models and support the schools with compliance requirements. School Implementation Managers (SIMs) are provided through SIG to assist Priority Schools with school improvement efforts and compliance requirements. Both teams of staff are held accountable through performance reviews and grant monitoring.

The Priority School receives funding in its budget to use flexibly and an additional funding allocation to support its school improvement activities, documented in a procedure known as a School Allocation Memorandum (SAM). The school's Network operations managers assist with budgeting. The use of these local Title I, 1003(a), and local funds must be aligned by the school with the school's SCEP submitted to NYSED. The Priority and Focus Schools SAM: http://schools.nyc.gov/offices/d_chanc_oper/budget/dbor/allocationmemo/fy12_13/FY13_PDF/sam70.pdf

Educational partner selection from pre-qualified organizations is accomplished through the Multiple Task Award Contract (MTAC) procedure, which provides a stream-lined process for schools to follow: <http://schools.nyc.gov/Offices/DCP/KeyDocuments/MTACPOS.htm>.

The Priority School has the autonomy to select its required support from a Network. Since spring 2010, NYCDOE schools have received their instructional and operational support from a support team called a Network. Each Network team provides training and coaching for principals and teachers, shares instructional resources, and facilitates school collaboration. The Network team includes several Achievement Coaches, who go directly to schools to help teachers and instructional leaders implement the citywide instructional expectations in order to deliver rigorous instruction in their classrooms. On the operational side, Network team members assist schools with budgets and grants, facilities, compliance, and human resources.

Program selection for Priority Schools is described in the spring 2012-13 Network Directory: <http://schools.nyc.gov/AboutUs/schools/support/default.htm>

ii. Labor-management documentation

The School-Based Options (SBO) process is described in the NYCDOE/UFT Collective Bargaining Agreement on page 46 here: http://www.uft.org/files/contract_pdfs/teachers-contract-2007-2009.pdf.

C. District Accountability and Support

i. Oversight of district's school turnaround effort and management structure

The specific senior leaders responsible for the district's turnaround efforts are Marc Sternberg, Senior Deputy Chancellor for Strategy and Policy, who oversees the Division of Portfolio Planning (DPP) in collaboration with Shael Suransky, Chief Academic Officer and Senior Deputy Chancellor for the Division of Academics, Performance, and Support (DAPS). These two leaders report to NYCDOE Chancellor Dennis Walcott. Attached is an organizational chart with more detail on the structure of DPP and DAPS, as well as a sample Network structure.

ii. Coordination of district structure for school turnaround efforts

The NYCDOE coordinates turnaround efforts and provides oversight and support for Priority Schools. Schools are directly supported by Networks that they select based on their academic needs; Networks are grouped into Clusters, who report to the Office of School Support (OSS) in DAPS. SIMs report to Clusters by district and provide Priority Schools with direct oversight and support in their turnaround efforts. The Office of Superintendents in DAPS oversees the Superintendents; there are 32 Community Superintendents and 8 High School Superintendents who oversee principals. The Superintendent serves as the principal's supervisor and conducts the school's Quality Review (QR). DPP coordinates the turnaround efforts for the NYCDOE and supports Priority Schools in collaboration with DAPS. The designated turnaround office is the Office of State Portfolio Policy (OSPP) within DPP, which works with Priority Schools to support their whole school reform model selection, implementation, and progress monitoring. External partner organizations working with Priority Schools are evaluated by schools and the Division of Contracts and Purchasing based on performance targets.

The NYCDOE uses a wide range of data to identify schools that are struggling. Schools that receive a grade of D, F, or a third consecutive C or worse on their most recent Progress Report, schools that receive a rating of Underdeveloped on their most recent QR, and schools identified as Priority Schools by NYSED are considered for support or intervention. To identify the kind of action that will be best for a struggling school and its students, the NYCDOE reviews school performance data such as student performance trends over time, demand/enrollment trends, efforts already underway to improve the school, and talent data. We consult with Superintendents and other experienced educators who have worked closely with the school, and gather community feedback on what is working or needs improvement in the school.

At the end of this process, analysis and engagement directs us to a set of schools that quantitative and qualitative indicators show do not have the capacity to significantly improve. These schools are identified for the most serious intervention, phase-out and then replacement by a new school(s). For the other struggling schools, Networks develop action plans to support the needs of struggling schools. These plans identify action steps, benchmarks, and year-end goals aimed at immediately improving student achievement.

The NYCDOE monitors each individual Priority School and its areas of strength and weakness. The SIM and Network that work with the Priority School provide day-to-day support in areas that are targeted for school improvement. System-wide we are working to continue to enhance our capacity to better support schools, with a focus on ensuring that we have high-quality staff that work with and in our Priority Schools.

Following New York State's ESEA waiver approval, the NYCDOE established a Priority Schools work group across central divisions to recommend whole school reform models for the NYCDOE's 122 Priority Schools. The work group reviews school data points and alignment to the three intervention model options: the School Improvement Grant plan, School Innovation Fund plan, or School Comprehensive Education Plan (SCEP) crosswalk.

For our lowest-performing schools, we propose a strategy of phasing out the struggling school and replacing it with a new school. The Priority Schools in this category are then proposed for the Turnaround model. Schools that are not selected for phase-out from our Struggling Schools Review Process will submit a SCEP crosswalk aligned to the U.S. Department of Education's seven turnaround principles. For the schools we consider for the Transformation model, we review a wide range of data points about each Priority School, including Progress Report grades, QR results, and qualitative Cluster feedback on the school's readiness to implement the model requirements. Schools are selected based on the quantitative data and the qualitative data about their levels of readiness to implement the Transformation model.

The NYCDOE has a well-developed planning and feedback process between the district and school leadership. The QR is a key part of this process and was developed to assist schools in raising student achievement. The QR is a two- or three-day school visit by experienced educators. During the review, the external evaluator visits classrooms, interviews school leaders and staff, and uses a rubric to evaluate how well the school is organized to support student achievement. Before a reviewer visits a school, the school leadership completes a self-evaluation based on the QR rubric. Reviewers draw upon this document and school data during interviews with principals, teachers, students, and parents during the school visit. After the site visit, schools receive a QR score and report that is published publicly. This document provides the school community with evidence-based information about the school's development, and serves as a source of feedback for school leadership to improve support for student performance.

In addition to QRs, Progress Reports are a yearly accountability, planning, and feedback tool that assist school leaders, as well as parents, teachers, and school communities, with understanding the school's strengths and weaknesses, emphasizing the development students have made in the past year. Progress Reports grade each school with an A, B, C, D, or F and are made up of four sections: Student Progress, Student Performance, School Environment, and (for high schools only) College and Career Readiness. Scores are based on comparing results from each school to a citywide benchmark and to a peer group of about 40 schools with similar student populations. These peer schools provide an opportunity for a school to understand how other schools are performing with similar students and learn best practices from them. Schools are also provided with student-level data workbooks that contain the underlying information from the Progress Report. These data workbooks are a powerful opportunity for schools, in collaboration with their Networks, to engage with their accountability data to understand individual student outcomes.

A third part of the NYCDOE planning and feedback process for school leadership is the APPR for principals pursuant to Education Law 3012-c. The components of the system are set forth in the June 1st determination by the Commissioner of Education and supporting documentation, Education Law 3012-c and SED regulations. Superintendents are the rating officer for the principals. The APPR results in a final rating for principals of Highly Effective, Effective, Developing or Ineffective and is based on key metrics from the school's Progress Report results which measure students' growth and the principal's practice as measured by the Quality Review rubric.

See attached chart.

D. Teacher and Leader Pipeline

i. Recruitment goals and strategies at schools to access high-quality leaders and teachers

The NYCDOE seeks to ensure that every student has the opportunity to learn from a high-quality educator in a school with a strong school leader, particularly in high-poverty and high-minority schools. To accomplish this goal, we develop a pipeline of expert teachers and leaders and provide them with targeted support.

To increase the number of candidates who are well-prepared to become principals, we have strengthened and expanded our principal preparation programs. Simultaneously, we have shifted our focus toward identifying talented educators earlier in their careers and nurturing their leadership skills while they remain in teacher leadership roles. Our goal is to develop a strong and sustainable leadership pipeline for schools. The NYCDOE created the Principal Candidate Pool selection process to make clear the expectations for principals in the recruitment process. The process is used to discern all candidates' readiness for the position of principal and ability to impact student achievement.

Our theory of action holds that if future school leaders are strategically identified and rigorously cultivated earlier in their careers, NYCDOE schools will develop a leadership pipeline for years to come. This includes both on-the-job opportunities like the Leaders in Education Apprenticeship Program (LEAP), principal internships such as the NYC Leadership Academy Aspiring Principal Program (APP), executive leadership institutes, and mentoring opportunities for experienced school leaders.

To recruit expert teachers, NYCDOE creates a diverse candidate pool. For subject-shortage areas in which there are not enough traditionally-certified teachers to meet the needs of schools, we developed alternative-certification programs such as the New York City Teaching Fellows, which prepares skilled professionals and recent college graduates to teach in high-need schools. Begun in 2000, since then the program has provided schools with more than 17,000 teachers. Today, nearly 8,500 Fellows are currently teaching in 86% of NYCDOE schools. In addition, we created a teaching residency program specifically to build a pipeline of teachers prepared to turnaround the performance of our lowest-performing schools. The NYCDOE created the Leader Teacher program for experienced educators to support professional development in their schools. The NYCDOE also leverages the state-funded Teachers of Tomorrow grant to provide recruitment and retention incentives for teachers to work in our highest-need schools.

ii. Hiring and budget processes

In the 2012-13 school year, approximately $9 billion of NYCDOE funding, not including most fringe and pension, resides in school budgets. FSF dollars – approximately $5 billion in the 2012-13 school year – are used by schools to cover basic instructional needs and are allocated to each school based on the number and need-level of students enrolled at that school. All money allocated through FSF can be used at the principal’s discretion. Additional funding is provided through categorical and programmatic allocations.

Each year the NYCDOE sets hiring policies to ensure that the appropriate number and types of teachers and principals can be recruited and hired into our 1,700 schools. Principals are typically in place in schools by July 1 before the start of the next school year to begin year-long planning and school improvement efforts. Once selected, principals are empowered to make staffing decisions for their schools. The NYCDOE’s responsibility is to offer a strong pool of applicants for principals to find the staff that they believe are the best fit for their school communities.

Schools receive their budgets for the new fiscal year each May. Annual hiring exceptions are set to ensure that hard-to-staff schools are staffed appropriately. These exceptions are made on the basis of the following factors: hard to staff subject areas, geographic districts, and grade level (elementary, middle, high). The timeline allows school leaders the ability to plan for any staffing needs or adjustments in concert with the citywide hiring process which begins in the spring and continues into the summer.

iii. District-wide trainings for leaders for success at low-achieving schools

The NYCDOE creates and collaborates with partners on principal training programs to build a pipeline of principals with the ability to drive teaching quality and student achievement district-wide, especially in schools with the greatest need. While distinct in program design and target candidates, our principal preparation programs share the following characteristics: 1) a carefully-developed recruitment process to screen for highly qualified participants, 2) required completion of a practical residency period, and 3) projects capturing evidence of impact on leadership development and student gains.

The school leadership programs align to the Transformation model by preparing leaders who understand the challenges facing struggling schools to lead dramatic instructional and organizational changes. These programs have been funded in part by support from the Wallace Foundation to further develop school leadership in the NYCDOE. Approximately 37% of our principals have emerged from these programs.

LEAP, launched in 2009, is a rigorous 12-month on-the-job program designed with the NYC Leadership Academy. LEAP develops school leaders within their existing school environments and creates opportunities to harness existing relationships including those with current principals and school communities. The LEAP curriculum differentiates learning based on individual needs and is aligned with the NYCDOE’s instructional initiatives and the CCLS.

The NYC Leadership Academy Aspiring Principal Program (APP) develops and supports individuals with some leadership experience to successfully lead low-performing schools through simulated school projects, a year-long principal internship with an experienced mentor principal on all aspects of instructional and organizational leadership, and a planning period. The New Leaders’ Aspiring Principals Program provides apprentice principals with an academic foundation and real-world experience vital to success in transforming the NYCDOE's lowest-performing schools. New Leaders' trains future principals to turnaround low-performing schools. Principals are trained through the Children's First Intensive (CFI) Institutes, which they attend to learn about the Citywide Instructional Expectations, CCLS, and the Danielson model. CFI is a professional development program designed to support educators in using data to inform instructional and organizational decision-making and focus on citywide initiatives. The Office of Leadership has more information on NYCDOE school leadership opportunities available: <http://schools.nyc.gov/AboutUs/leadershippathways/schoolleadership/default.htm>

Jacqueline Rosado was appointed to J.H.S 291 shortly before it was designated a priority school. Prior to that, Ms. Rosado worked as a teacher and AP at the school since 1997. Through her relatively short tenure as principal she has redesigned several leadership roles and identified key constituency groups to further efforts towards meeting school-wide goals. Through the SIG plan, Ms. Rosado will be provided the much needed fiscal and human resources required to accelerate progress towards closing the achievement gap for students in targeted subgroups.

iv. District-wide trainings for teachers in low-achieving schools

The NYCDOE believes that to support teachers in their growth and development, it is important to have a common language and understanding of what quality teaching looks like. We have invested significant resources into deepening schools' and teachers' understanding of Charlotte Danielson's Framework for Teaching, while training principals to do more frequent cycles of formative classroom observations and feedback. Resources to support this work are provided to schools and educators in a number of ways: central and school-based professional development opportunities, online courses, and centrally-based Talent Coaches who work across multiple schools. In addition, the NYCDOE has developed district-wide training programs to build the capacity of specific groups of teachers, including new teachers, teacher leaders, and teachers that work with special populations.

New teachers who work in low-achieving schools are provided differentiated levels of support, depending on their pathway to teaching. The NYCDOE's Middle School Spring Classroom Apprenticeship helps prepare aspiring teachers (traditionally-certified and alternatively-certified) for the rigor and challenges of a high-need school through an intensive ten-week, school-embedded program. The New York City Teaching Fellows program, along with the Teach for America program, prepares alternatively-certified teachers through an intensive pre-service training program and then a subsidized master's degree program while Fellows or Corps members are teaching in a New York City public school.

In the summer of 2011, NYCDOE also launched the NYC Teaching Residency program to specifically support schools implementing intervention models. The program focuses on recruiting and preparing individuals dedicated to driving change as part of a school turnaround strategy in our lowest-performing schools. The Teaching Residency program currently offers a full immersion experience at a school for one year, working alongside a Resident Teacher Mentor as an apprentice teacher in the classroom while also receiving training in teaching strategies proven to be successful in turning around school performance. Training residents also have university coursework toward a graduate degree in education tailored to support their career development. Residency graduates go on to work in high-poverty and high-minority schools.

Several district-wide training programs are also available for teacher leaders who work in low-achieving schools. First, the Lead Teacher program allows teachers to stay in the classroom while supporting their colleagues as a part-time coach. Professional development is offered monthly through a collaboration with the UFT Teacher Center. More than 230 teachers are participating across 140 schools in 2012-13. Second, the Teacher Leadership Program (TLP) was established in 2012 and is a one-year program that builds the capacity of teacher leaders to develop their instructional and facilitative leadership skills. During the 2012-13 school year, TLP trained 250 teachers in 189 schools. The program is anticipated to expand to train 375 teacher leaders during the 2013-14 school year, which will focus on teacher teams from the same school. Finally, the Common Core Fellows lead the citywide work around articulating and evaluating what quality instruction looks like as we transition to the Common Core Learning Standards (CCLS). Teachers are trained to examine the quality and alignment of instructional materials to the CCLS. There are 300 fellows in school year 2012-13. Fellows have examined more than 600 samples of work to date this year across all Clusters. NYCDOE teacher leadership programs are described here:

<http://schools.nyc.gov/AboutUs/leadershippathways/teacherleadership/default.htm>.

v. District trainings offered for Year One (September 2013-August 2014)

See attached chart.

E. External Partner Recruitment, Screening, and Matching

i. District mechanism to identify, screen, select, match, and evaluate partners for school

To identify, screen, select, match, and evaluate external partner organizations, the NYCDOE uses a Pre-Qualified Solicitation (PQS) process to award contracts. PQS is an ongoing open call-for-proposals process by which the NYCDOE thoroughly vets potential partners. Each vendor undergoes a rigorous screening process, which includes a comprehensive background check and proposal evaluation by a committee of three program experts who independently evaluate vendor proposals in terms of project narrative, organizational capacity, qualifications and experience, and pricing level. The result is a pool of highly-qualified partner organizations which are approved and fully contracted. The Priority School is then able to select services from any of the pre-qualified external partner organizations by soliciting proposals and choosing the best fit according to its needs.

In addition, the NYCDOE uses a specific solicitation process called Whole School Reform, which seeks proposals from organizations experienced in working with schools in need of school intervention. The goal is for the partners to support the school to build capacity and enable the school to continue improvement efforts on its own. Partner proposals must offer a variety of methods and strategies grounded in best practices to achieve substantial gains. Potential partners provide accountability plans that include annual evaluations on student achievement progress and the process for enabling schools to continue the reform efforts beyond the contract period, along with at least three references from current or past client schools. Once partner proposals are reviewed by the evaluation committee and recommended for approval, further due diligence is done before formal recommendation for the Panel for Educational Policy for approval. Schools have discretion to select approved partners based on their scope of service needs.

Major partners that will be providing services critical to the implementation of the school's plan are The Internationals Network for Public Schools (INPS), Pearson Learning, Counseling in Schools, The Danielson Group and GoldMansour.

ii. Process to ensure school has access to partner by start of Year One Priority Schools receive budget allocations for the new fiscal year in late May, well in advance of the start of the new fiscal year in July and the start of the school year in September. The NYCDOE budget process provides schools with ample time to secure external partner support through the above-mentioned PQS system. Schools may secure services from a list of external partners that have already been thoroughly vetted by NYCDOE.

Individual schools create a scope of service and solicit proposals from partners based on their specific needs. Once received, schools score proposals and award contracts to the most competitive and cost-effective external partner. Using the PQS system, Priority Schools secure support from effective external Whole School Reform partners as early as May or June, well in advance of the year-one implementation period.

iii. Roles of district and school principal for partner screening, selection and evaluation

The NYCDOE manages the initial process of screening potential partner organizations so that schools can focus on selecting partner organizations based on their budget and service needs. NYCDOE manages an ongoing call-for-proposals process for select PQS categories of services to schools. All proposals received by the NYCDOE for the PQS must first be reviewed to determine if they meet all of the submission and vendor qualifications prescribed in the call for proposal. Proposals meeting these requirements are evaluated and rated by a district-based evaluation committee within specific criteria.

As needed, the NYCDOE may conduct site visits to verify information contained in a proposal and may require a potential partner to make a presentation on their services or submit additional written material in support of a proposal. Once the NYCDOE recommends a vendor for award, the recommendation is reviewed by the Division of Contracts and Purchasing for approval and then the Panel for Educational Policy for review and final approval.

School principals are able to contract services from any of the approved pre-qualified educational partners by developing a specific scope of work, soliciting proposals using a user-friendly online tool and choosing the most competitive partner according to their specific needs. Once school principals receive school budgets for the new fiscal year in May, they are able to begin negotiating with potential partners for services in the new school year. The process allows principals sufficient time to solicit vendors and establish contracts in time for the new school year and possible preparation activities during the summer.

At the end of each school year, each school principal evaluates the services of the vendors – based on the objectives, proposed scope of services, and outcomes from the services – and determines whether to continue the partnership.

F. Enrollment and Retention Policies, Practices, and Strategies

i. Priority School's enrollment

In J.H. S 291, students with disabilities comprise 18% of the school's population, 1 % point lower than the citywide middle school average. Students in self-contained settings comprise 11% of the school's population, 4 % points higher than the citywide middle school average. English Language Learners comprise 26% of the school's population, 14 % points higher than the citywide middle school average. Only 14% of the students at the school are proficient in English Language Arts, putting the school in the bottom 8% citywide. Only 31% of the students at the school are proficient in Mathematics, putting the school in the bottom 17% citywide. The average incoming proficiency (4th grade ELA/math) of the school's students is 2.66, which is 0.27 lower than the citywide middle school average. Students with disabilities, ELLs, and students performing below proficiency have the same access to schools as their non-disabled, English proficient, and proficient scoring peers. Developing a choice-based system for enrolling students has been a cornerstone of NYCDOE's Children's First Reform efforts. In the past two years, the Department has worked to increase equitable access to high quality programs at all grade levels in the community school district.

At the middle school level, all students within a geographic district have the same access. Some districts maintain primarily zoned middle schools, which give priority to students in the geographic zone. Most districts have at least some choice schools which have admissions methods based on academic or artistic ability, language proficiency, demonstrated interest, or unscreened.

ii. Policies for SWDs, ELLs, and low-proficiency students' access to high-quality schools

The NYCDOE has policies and practices in place to help ensure that Students with Disabilities (SWDs), English Language Learners (ELLs), and students performing below proficiency have increasing access to diverse and high quality school options across the district. The NYCDOE Progress Report also ensures that schools have public data that encourages the school to focus on SWDs and ELLs. In addition, the Progress Report rewards additional credit to schools that make significant progress or have high performance with either of these subgroups.

The NYCDOE operates a school choice-based system for students and families from PreK to high school, which consistently matches the majority of students to their top choice schools. For example, for the previous five years, the high school admissions process has matched over 80% of students to one of their top five choices. In November 2011, the Brookings Institution issued a report that cited New York City's school choice system as the most effective of any of the nation's largest school districts. The NYCDOE's recent enrollment reform efforts continue the work to ensure that SWDs, ELLs, and students performing below proficiency have access to diverse and high quality school options across the district.

The NYCDOE has changed the composition of seats for students in the high school admissions process by de-screening seats in programs that maintain unfilled seats. Typically, schools that have screened programs are allowed to rank students who meet that program's admissions criteria, and only those students who are ranked may be matched to that school. However, this has historically led to situations in which students, who may be just slightly under the admissions criteria, are denied access to a desirable seat, while some school seats remain unfilled.

As a pilot program in school year 2011-12, the NYCDOE de-screened seats in programs that were not filling their seat targets in order to provide greater access to SWDs, ELLs, and students performing below proficiency. The work of de-screening approximately 20 programs resulted in the placement of approximately 900 students into academically screened seats that would have otherwise gone unfilled. In 2012-13, the NYCDOE further expanded this pilot to ensure that all students have access to screened seats. As a result almost 1,300 students were placed into these programs. The NYCDOE will continue this work.

It is not enough to only provide access to high-quality school options for SWDs, ELLs, and students performing below proficiency. Once these students are enrolled in desirable school programs, the NYCDOE is supporting schools in meeting their unique learning needs. The NYCDOE previously made modifications to the Fair Student Funding formula to provide weights, which provide additional funding, for harder-to-serve students, including weights for Academic Intervention Services (AIS), English Language Learners (ELLs), and Special Education Services. In 2011-12, the NYCDOE revised the funding methodology to provide additional weights to traditional high schools serving overage under-credited (OAUC) students. Providing schools with additional funding for AIS and OAUC further supports students that are performing below proficiency, and may also include ELLs and/or SWDs.

iii. District strategies for enrollment equity

The NYCDOE employs specific strategies to ensure that Priority Schools are not receiving or incentivized to receive disproportionately high numbers of SWDs, ELLs, and students performing below proficiency.

The most important strategy is the reform of the over-the-counter (OTC) process, which has been critical to managing disproportionately high enrollment of SWDs, ELLs, and students performing below proficiency in Priority Schools. Each summer, the NYCDOE opens temporary registration centers across the city to assist families seeking placement or hardship transfers during the peak enrollment period before the start of school. Approximately 15,000 new or returning students are placed during the peak OTC period and are overwhelmingly higher-needs students. Placements are made based on projected seat availability by October 31. The NYCDOE is working to lessen the concentration of OTC students at any one school.

For the past two years, the NYCDOE has added seats to every high school's OTC projection. As a result, the impact of OTC placements at low-performing schools, including former Persistently-Lowest Achieving (PLA) or Priority Schools, was minimized, and there was an increase in student access to more programs. The NYCDOE OTC population changes year to year. As it changes, we have mitigated the effects of high populations of harder-to-serve students for PLA/Priority Schools. For example, from 2011 to 2012, the number of Special Education Students placed during OTC increased by 14% citywide. However, for PLA/Priority schools the number of Special Education Students placed during OTC actually decreased by 2%.

G. District-level Labor and Management Consultation and Collaboration

i. Consultation and collaboration on district- and school-level plans

The NYCDOE has consulted and collaborated with key stakeholders on the development of SIG district and school-level implementation plans. The NYCDOE provided guidance to schools, Networks, and Clusters in the development of their school-level plans to engage school stakeholders in the development of the SIG plan.

Schools submitted Attachment A, the Consultation & Collaboration Documentation Form, in order to ensure consultation and collaboration took place on the school-level plans. School-plan signatures included representatives from the principals' union – the Council of Supervisors & Administrators (CSA), teachers' union – the United Federation of Teachers (UFT), and a parent leader.

At the district-level, the NYCDOE consulted and collaborated with recognized district leaders of UFT, CSA, and CPAC. The initial SIG engagement process with each group took place April 26-May 2 via phone calls and emails about the NYCDOE SIG applications. Following the initial engagement, the NYCDOE met with the Chancellor's Parent Advisory Council (CPAC) in a full meeting on May 9 to consult and collaborate on SIG. CPAC is the group of parent leaders in the NYCDOE; it is comprised of presidents of the district presidents' councils. The role of CPAC is to consult with the district presidents' councils to identify concerns, trends, and policy issues, and it advises the Chancellor on NYCDOE policies.

The NYCDOE and UFT held a SIG consultation and collaboration meeting on May 16. The NYCDOE then followed up on the three issues raised by the UFT in the meeting. Based on the UFT's concern about the Turnaround model, the NYCDOE proposed language to include in the applications. Following up on the UFT's concern about including targets for "effective" and "highly effective" teachers in Attachment B at this time, the NYCDOE agreed to not ask schools to submit this information as our APPR plan was not yet underway. Finally, the NYCDOE addressed the concern about school-level consultation and collaboration by extending the school-level submission of Attachment A by two weeks, addressing school-specific concerns as needed, and participating in meetings with the UFT to share SIG information. For the new schools, the UFT and NYCDOE jointly facilitated a consultation and collaboration meeting on May 28 for the new school principals and the UFT district representatives on the new school plans. The UFT and NYCDOE met on June 5 in another consultation and collaboration meeting.

On June 5, the NYCDOE and CSA held a SIG consultation and collaboration meeting. Prior to the meeting, multiple phone calls and emails took place to discuss SIG and address specific school questions. The NYCDOE responded to CSA requests for information about the SIG applications.

ii. Consultation and Collaboration Form (Attachment A)

See attached. The district-level form is signed by the president/leaders of the teachers' union, principals' union, and district parent body. The individuals who signed are Michael Mulgrew – UFT President, Ernest Logan – CSA President, and Jane Reiff – CPAC Co-Chair.

school to another, the Board and the Union agree that transfers shall be based upon the following principles:

A. General Transfers

Effective school year 2005-2006, principals will advertise all vacancies. Interviews will be conducted by school-based human resources committees (made up of pedagogues and administration) with the final decision to be made by the principal. Vacancies are defined as positions to which no teacher has been appointed, except where a non-appointed teacher is filling in for an appointed teacher on leave. Vacancies will be posted as early as April 15 of each year and will continue being posted throughout the spring and summer. Candidates (teachers wishing to transfer and excessed teachers) will apply to specifically posted vacancies and will be considered, for example, through job fairs and/or individual application to the school. Candidates may also apply to schools that have not advertised vacancies in their license areas so that their applications are on file at the school should a vacancy arise.

Selections for candidates may be made at any time; however, transfers after August 7th require the release of the teacher's current principal. Teachers who have repeatedly been unsuccessful in obtaining transfers or obtaining regular teaching positions after being excessed, will, upon request, receive individualized assistance from the Division of Human Resources and/or the Peer Intervention Program on how to maximize their chances of success in being selected for a transfer.

B. Hardship Transfers

In addition to the vacancies available for transfer pursuant to Section A of this Article, transfers on grounds of hardship shall be allowed in accordance with the following:

Transfers of teachers after three years of service on regular appointment may be made on grounds of hardship on the basis of the circumstances of each particular case, except that travel time by public transportation of more than one hour and thirty minutes each way between a teacher's home (or City line in the case of a teacher residing outside the City) and school shall be deemed to constitute a "hardship" entitling the applicant to a transfer to a school to be designated by the Division of Human Resources which shall be within one hour and thirty minutes travel time by public transportation from the teacher's home, or City line in the case of a teacher residing outside the City.

C. Voluntary Teacher Exchange

The Chancellor shall issue a memorandum promoting the exchange of new ideas and methodology and encouraging teachers to share their special skills with students and colleagues in other schools. To facilitate achievement of this goal, the Board and the Union agree to allow teachers to exchange positions for a one year period provided that the principals of both schools agree to the exchange. The exchange may be renewed for an additional one year period. For all purposes other than payroll distribution, the teachers will remain on the organizations of their home schools.

D. Staffing New or Redesigned Schools⁹

The following applies to staffing of new or redesigned schools ("Schools")

1. A Personnel Committee shall be established, consisting of two Union representatives designated by the UFT President, two representatives designated by the community superintendent for community school district schools or by the Chancellor for schools/programs under his/her jurisdiction, a Principal/or Project Director, and where appropriate a School Planning Committee Representative and a parent.

⁹ The rights of teachers to staff the New Programs in District 79 are set forth in Appendix 1, paragraph 2.

2. For its first year of operation the School's staff shall be selected by the Personnel Committee which should, to the extent possible, make its decisions in a consensual manner.

In the first year of staffing a new school, the UFT Personnel Committee members shall be school-based staff designated from a school other than the impacted school or another school currently in the process of being phased out. The Union will make its best effort to designate representatives from comparable schools who share the instructional vision and mission of the new school, and who will seek to ensure that first year hiring supports the vision and mission identified in the approved new school application.

In the second and subsequent years, the Union shall designate representatives from the new school to serve on its Personnel Committee.

3. If another school(s) is impacted (i.e., closed or phased out), staff from the impacted school(s) will be guaranteed the right to apply and be considered for positions in the School. If sufficient numbers of displaced staff apply, at least fifty percent of the School's pedagogical positions shall be selected from among the appropriately licensed most senior applicants from the impacted school(s), who meet the School's qualifications. The Board will continue to hire pursuant to this provision of the Agreement until the impacted school is closed.

4. Any remaining vacancies will be filled by the Personnel Committee from among transferees, excesses, and/or new hires. In performing its responsibilities, the Personnel Committee shall adhere to all relevant legal and contractual requirements including the hiring of personnel holding the appropriate credentials.

5. In the event the Union is unable to secure the participation of members on the Personnel Committee, the Union will consult with the Board to explore other alternatives. However the Union retains the sole right to designate the two UFT representatives on the Personnel Committee.

ARTICLE NINETEEN UNION ACTIVITIES, PRIVILEGES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

A. Restriction on Union Activities

No teacher shall engage in Union activities during the time he/she is assigned to teaching or other duties, except that members of the Union's negotiating committee and its special consultants shall, upon proper application, be excused without loss of pay for working time spent in negotiations with the Board or its representatives.

B. Time for Union Representatives

1. Chapter leaders shall be allowed time per week as follows for investigation of grievances and for other appropriate activities relating to the administration of the Agreement and to the duties of their office:

a. In the elementary schools, four additional preparation periods.

b. In the junior high schools, and in the high schools, relief from professional activity periods. In the junior high schools, chapter leaders shall be assigned the same number of teaching periods as homeroom teachers.

b. All votes of non-supervisory school based staff concerning participating in SBM / SDM shall be conducted by the UFT chapter.

c. Schools involved in SBM / SDM shall conduct ongoing self-evaluation and modify the program as needed.

2. SBM / SDM Teams

a. Based upon a peer selection process, participating schools shall establish an SBM / SDM team. For schools that come into the program after September 1993, the composition will be determined at the local level. Any schools with a team in place as of September 1993 will have an opportunity each October to revisit the composition of its team.

b. The UFT chapter leader shall be a member of the SBM / SDM team.

c. Each SBM / SDM team shall determine the range of issues it will address and the decision-making process it will use.

3. Staff Development

The Board shall be responsible for making available appropriate staff development, technical assistance and support requested by schools involved in SBM / SDM, as well as schools expressing an interest in future involvement in the program. The content and design of centrally offered staff development and technical assistance programs shall be developed in consultation with the Union.

4. Waivers

a. Requests for waivers of existing provisions of this Agreement or Board regulations must be approved in accordance with the procedure set forth in Article Eight B (School Based Options) of this Agreement i.e. approval of fifty-five (55) percent of those UFT chapter members voting and agreement of the school principal, UFT district representative, appropriate superintendent, the President of the Union and the Chancellor.

b. Waivers or modifications of existing provisions of this Agreement or Board regulations applied for by schools participating in SBM / SDM are not limited to those areas set forth in Article Eight B (School-Based Options) of this Agreement.

c. Existing provisions of this Agreement and Board regulations not specifically modified or waived, as provided above, shall continue in full force and effect in all SBM / SDM schools.

d. In schools that vote to opt out of SBM / SDM, continuation of waivers shall be determined jointly by the President of the Union and the Chancellor.

e. All School-Based Option votes covered by this Agreement, including those in Circular 6R, shall require an affirmative vote of fifty-five percent (55%) of those voting.

B. School-Based Options

The Union chapter in a school and the principal may agree to modify the existing provisions of this Agreement or Board regulations concerning class size, rotation of assignments/classes, teacher schedules and/or rotation of paid coverages for the entire school year. By the May preceding the year in which the proposal will be in effect, the proposal will be submitted for ratification in the school in accordance with Union procedures which will require approval of fifty-five (55) percent of those voting. Resources available to the school shall be maintained at the same level which would be required if the proposal were not in effect. The Union District Representative, the President of the Union, the appropriate Superintendent and the Chancellor must approve the proposal and should be kept informed as the proposal is developed. The proposal will be in effect for one school year.

Should problems arise in the implementation of the proposal and no resolution is achieved at the school level, the District Representative and the Superintendent will attempt to resolve the problem. If they are unable to do so, it will be resolved by the Chancellor and the Union President. Issues arising under this provision are not subject to the grievance and arbitration procedures of the Agreement.

C. School Allocations

Before the end of June and by the opening of school in September, to involve faculties and foster openness about the use of resources, the principal shall meet with the chapter leader and UFT chapter committee to discuss, explain and seek input on the use of the school allocations. As soon as they are available, copies of the school allocations will be provided to the chapter leader and UFT chapter committee.

Any budgetary modifications regarding the use of the school allocations shall be discussed by the principal and chapter committee.

The Board shall utilize its best efforts to develop the capacity to include, in school allocations provided pursuant to this Article 8C, the specific extracurricular activities budgeted by each school.

D. Students' Grades

The teacher's judgment in grading students is to be respected; therefore if the principal changes a student's grade in any subject for a grading period, the principal shall notify the teacher of the reason for the change in writing.

E. Lesson Plan Format

The development of lesson plans by and for the use of the teacher is a professional responsibility vital to effective teaching. The organization, format, notation and other physical aspects of the lesson plan are appropriately within the discretion of each teacher. A principal or supervisor may suggest, but not require, a particular format or organization, except as part of a program to improve deficiencies of teachers who receive U-ratings or formal warnings.

F. Joint Efforts

The Board of Education and the Union recognize that a sound educational program requires not only the efficient use of existing resources but also constant experimentation with new methods and organization. The Union agrees that experimentation presupposes flexibility in assigning and programming pedagogical and other professional personnel. Hence, the Union will facilitate its members' voluntary participation in new ventures that may depart from usual procedures. The Board agrees that educational experimentation will be consistent with the standards of working conditions prescribed in this Agreement.

The Board and the Union will continue to participate in joint efforts to promote staff integration.

The parties will meet with a view toward drafting their collective bargaining agreements to reflect and embody provisions appropriate to the new and/or nontraditional school program organizational structures that have developed in the last several years, including as a result of this Agreement.

G. Professional Support for New Teachers

The Union and the Board agree that all teachers new to the New York City Public Schools are entitled to collegial support as soon as they commence service. The New

SUBJECT: Priority and Focus School Allocations

ESEA Flexibility Waiver

In September 2011, the Federal government announced an ESEA regulatory initiative, inviting states to request flexibility regarding specific requirements of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (NCLB) in exchange for state-developed plans designed to improve educational outcomes for all students, close achievement gaps, increase equity, and improve the quality of instruction. NYSED received approval from the U.S. Department of Education (USDE) for its flexibility waiver request, authorizing New York State to revise its accountability system and provide schools across New York State with flexibility in aligning resources to increase student outcomes. For additional information regarding specific provisions waived please visit: <http://www.p12.nysed.gov/esea-waiver/>

The waiver replaces the previous identification system and categories (PLA, Restructuring, Corrective Action, In Need of Improvement, In Good Standing, Rapidly Improving, and High Performing) with the new categories of Priority Schools, Focus Districts and Focus Schools, Local Assistance Plan Schools, Recognition Schools, and Reward Schools, using a new identification process. According to state rules, the identification of Priority, Focus, and Reward Schools is based on data from the 2010-11 school year and prior.

Effective from 2012-13 through 2014-15, the new system introduces more realistic performance targets and puts greater emphasis on student growth and college- and career-readiness, which also aligns with the Chancellors' priorities.

The ESEA waiver grants flexibility in the following areas:

- o 2013-14 Timeline for All Students Becoming Proficient
- o School and District Improvement Requirements
- o Highly Qualified Teacher Improvement Plans
- o School-wide Programs
- o Use of School Improvement Grant Funds
- o Twenty-First Century Community Learning
- o Determining Annual Yearly Progress (AYP) for each school and district (optional)
- o Rank Order

This flexibility also releases all schools from the requirement of setting aside 5% and 10% of their allocation to support the highly qualified and professional development mandates. It allows schools the opportunity to align resources and design programs that meet the specific needs of students to increase outcomes.

Allocation and Requirements

As per the ESEA Flexibility waiver, the allocation for Priority and Focus Schools is based on the county provisions and county allocations for New York City. The percentages required to be set aside for Priority and Focus school range from 5% to 9%. Four of the five counties were identified as having a need under the new regulations. The per capita for each county is as follows:

Borough	Manhattan	Bronx	Brooklyn	Queens	Staten Island
Per Capita	$277.96	$242.33	$257.86	$281.96	N/A

The Title I Priority and Focus school allocation must support program and activities mentioned in the School Comprehensive Education Plan (SCEP). Allowable activities appear in Appendix A. Schools will also need to identify the allowable activities with each item scheduled in Galaxy, as indicated in more detail below.

Parent Involvement

Priority and Focus Schools that received Title I Part A must continue to set aside 1% of their school's allocation to support parent involvement activities and programs. Chancellor's Regulation A-655 requires School Leadership Teams to consult with Title I parent representatives regarding the Title I program and the use of these funds. Parent involvement activities funded through Title I must be included in the parent involvement policy and aligned with student achievement goals in the comprehensive education plan.

A school-wide program (SWP) is based on a comprehensive school-wide program plan designed collaboratively at the school level to improve instruction. In addition to providing challenging content, the school-wide program plan incorporates intensive professional development for staff and collaboration, where appropriate, with community organizations to strengthen the school's program.

Parent Engagement

Focus and Priority schools that received Title I Part A must also set aside 1% of their Title I Focus and Priority School allocation for Parent Engagement programs. Non-Title I Priority and Focus Schools will receive support for parent activities based upon 2% of a school's estimated poverty costs utilizing the same rate as their borough Title I per capita, to provide for the base 1% Parent Involvement and 1% Parent Engagement mandates.

The primary objective of this additional set aside is to enable greater and more meaningful parent participation in the education of their children. To this end, we have identified these Partnership Standards for School and Families which define parent engagement and provide guidance to schools and families in building partnerships that lead to greater student success. These allowable activities may be supported with the set-aside requirement and include:

- Fostering Communication: School and families engage in an open exchange of information regarding student progress, school wide goals and support activities.
- Encouraging Parent Involvement: Parents have diverse and meaningful roles in the school community and their children's achievement.
- Creating Welcoming Schools: Creating a welcoming, positive school climate with the commitment of the entire school community.
- Partnering for School Success: School engages families in setting high expectations for students and actively partners with parents to prepare students for their next level.
- Collaborating Effectively: School community works together to make decisions about the academic and personal growth of students through school wide goals. School fosters collaborations with community-based organizations to create a vibrant, fulfilling environment for students and families.

These standards are also consistent with the sixth tenet on parent engagement. Beginning this year, schools will have an opportunity to receive training through Parent Academy which is designed to build and enhance capacity within our school communities for effective home-school partnerships and will feature borough-wide training sessions for families. For more information about Parent Academy, please visit the Department's website at www.nycparentacademy.org and/or contact the Division of Family and Community Engagement at (212) 374-4118.

Public School Choice

Public School Choice is required for all Priority and Focus Schools. LEA's must provide all students in identified schools with the option to transfer to another public school in good standing, and provide/pay for transportation to the receiving schools. A child who transfers may remain in the receiving school until the child has completed the highest grade in that school.

Supplemental Education Services

The NYCDOE will no longer provide Supplemental Education Services (SES). Schools that choose to provide academic remediation can select from an array of contracted vendors, including those that provide expanded learning time.

If a school chooses to provide expanded learning time to students, they would use the Multiple Task Award Contract (MTAC) utility to get the best vendor for their needs. Using the MTAC utility schools would:

- Solicit "bids" from providers whose programs meet the needs and goals of their school. The solicitations would articulate the desired program design, students served, services needed, start and end dates and schedules.
- Find providers interested in working with their school. Providers would respond by submitting a proposal outlining the services they can give to the school and how the services will be rendered.
- Use the utility's prescribed rating sheet to document their selection.
- Once the providers have been selected and a purchase order has been issued, schools would notify the Division of Contracts and Purchasing as to the provider, program and schedule that has been arranged so that fingerprinting and other requirements will be managed centrally.
- All services will be offered on school property; vendors will be required to budget and pay for extended use and security as required.

A list of ELT vendors can be found in Appendix C.

In addition to implementing an Expanded Learning Time programs, schools can create programs aligned to the allowable activities. These services can also be procured using the MTAC process.

Galaxy Requirements

As funds are scheduled, schools will need to select one of the brief activity descriptions summarized on the list below in the "Program" drop-down field in Galaxy. This will demonstrate compliance with allowable activities, as described in detail in Appendix A.

- PF Common Core State Standards
- PF NYS Standards and Assessments
- PF Positive Behavior Management Programs
- PF Response to Intervention (RTI)
- PF Career and Technical Education (CTE)
- PF Academic Intervention Services (AIS)
- PF Advance Placement/International Baccalaureate (AP/IB)
- PF Advance International Certificate of Education (AICE)
- PF International General Certificate of Secondary Education (IGCSE)
- PF College and Career Readiness
- PF Expanded Learning Time

- PF Parent Engagement
- PF Supporting Great Teachers and Leaders

Supplemental Compensation:

Schools can provide supplemental compensation to support:

- Per session activities
- Training rate
- Hiring F-status staff
- Prep period coverage
- Per Diem

Payments to staff must be done in accordance with collective bargaining agreements, and are processed through the regular bulk job and timekeeping system. Refer to Appendix A: Allowable Activities for Improvements List of Allowable Activities for Improvement Set-Aside Requirement, Section D: Great Teachers and Leaders for detailed examples of allowable services.

School Comprehensive Education Plan (SCEP)

Priority and Focus Schools are required to construct a School Comprehensive Education Plan (SCEP). The SCEP will be submitted as part of the District Comprehensive Improvement Plan (DCIP) that addresses all of the tenets outlined in the Diagnostic Tool for School and District Effectiveness (DTSDE).

Required school plans should be based on the findings and recommendations contained in the most recent School Quality Review (SQR), External School Curriculum Audit (ESCA), School Curriculum Readiness Audit (SCRA), Joint Intervention Team (JIT), and/or Persistently Lowest Achieving (PLA) reports. Priority and Focus schools must also develop an action plan incorporating the goals and activities of the Quality Improvement Process (QIP), if any, related to improvement activities for the subgroup of students with disabilities

Prior to completing the SCEP, the school should conduct a needs assessment by evaluating the recommendations from all of the most recent school level reports. Recommendations should be organized according to the Six Tenets and programs and services from the list of allowable school improvement activities, which align the six tenets and the statements of practice that are embedded in the Diagnostic Tool for School and District Effectiveness. Refer to Appendix B: Six Tenets of the SCEP for detailed examples of the tenets.

The Priority and Focus School allocations will be placed in Galaxy in the following allocation categories:

- Title I Priority/Focus SWP
- Title I Priority/Focus SWP Parent Engage
- Title I Priority/Focus TA
- Title I Priority/Focus TA Parent Engage
- Priority/Focus Non-Title I
- Priority/Focus Parent Engage Non-Title I

Budgets must be scheduled in Galaxy by November 9, 2012

We aim for excellence and provide high quality differentiated supports for schools in order to improve learning outcomes for all students. We aim to develop the expertise and effectiveness of staff as we mobilize and build capacity in our community to ensure that our support impacts student achievement and enhances teacher pedagogy. Our goal is to empower school leaders, teachers and staff to prepare and lead our students towards college and career readiness. Organizational Structure: An assigned "instructional point" provides direct support for the school. Professional development is not a folder of materials or an isolated event - it is a process. That process is part of being a reflective practitioner, of asking, "How can I make a difference to promote student achievement?" The question is, "How do I put wheels on this and get it on the road to mobilize capacity." Special Expertise: We ensure supports are in place for students and provide assistance with many systems. Learning is a process that moves through stages of meaning (building on ideas), machinery (acquiring skills, connecting strategies), and mastery (reaching the goal, applying learning to meet real-world challenges). Mission/Philosophy: We believe schools can accelerate achievement for all students through thoughtful partnerships and best practices. We provide quality support and foster innovation in our schools. By cultivating leadership at all levels and supporting the development of teachers, we build capacity for schools to establish structures and align resources that support student achievement. We partner with schools to implement rigorous curriculum that meets the needs of all learners, empowering students to take ownership of their learning. Organizational Structure: The network provides consultations with all schools in the beginning, middle and end of year to create meaningful partnerships through data analysis and alignment of resources. Professional learning for leaders occurs at each others' school to observe best practices and become reflective learners. The school leaders engage in conversations about all aspects of school instruction and operations. Special Expertise: Being responsive, transparent, efficient, collaborative and dedicated is what CFN 402 uses to guide our work in supporting schools. Through our ongoing commitment to collaboration and excellence, we will continue to provide the highest level of instructional and operational support possible to our network schools. Organizational Structure: The network has organized its structure under two distinct categories, instruction and operations, in order to provide seamless support to our schools. In addition, each school is assigned an Achievement Coach that visits frequently to provide PD that supports the CLE. Also, support to each school is customized through a workplan developed jointly by the principal and the network team. The workplan addresses areas of need based on the school's Quality Review, Progress Report, budget, and other accountability measures. Special Expertise: Eighteen middle schools from our network are participating in the MSQI pilot program that focuses on reading strategies such as Guided and Reciprocal Reading, Socratic Seminar and intervention programs such as Ach 3000, Access Code, Just Words and Wilson. Members of the network team have supported these schools with its implementation. Mission/Philosophy: CFN 609 strives to support each of its schools with customized support based on a principal's vision, the Citywide Instructional Expectations and an analysis of available data systems (Progress Reports, Quality Reviews, Alternate Reviews, State Report Cards and school-based visits). Organizational Structure: School Liaisons (Achievement Coaches) are carefully matched to four or five schools and make site visits every two to three weeks. In addition to providing support around their own expertise, Liaisons make arrangements with other members of the team to provide cross-functional support (whether that be instruction or operations) to continuously promote effective teaching and learning that impacts student growth. Special Expertise: We have expertise in: ELA, Math, Science, Social Studies, IT, SPED and ELL and have a range of experience from 10-29 years. A. School Overview

i. School vision, mission, and goals of this plan

Roland Hayes is a community of learners which has high expectations for all students while maintaining a safe and nurturing environment. Through engaging teaching, good learning practices, and effective inclusive programs we meet the needs of all students. IS 291 is committed to including the entire school community in preparing our students to be college and career ready and productive contributing members of society. Our goal at IS 291 is to empower our students to think independently and critically, make good decisions, and to celebrate the differences in individuals. In order to achieve our mission, we plan to focus on staffing the school with effective and highly qualified teachers and building capacity among & improve the effectiveness of the current staff. We also plan to enhance the curricula by incorporating multiple entry points and technology to promote literacy through all content areas for all students with specific supports for ELLs and SWDs. We will also intensify support around student social emotional development.

ii. School plan to achieve its vision, mission, and goals

The school plans to achieve its vision, mission, and goals outlined in this SIG plan by implementing a sustainable three pillar research-based system developed to accelerate comprehensive schoolwide improvement. All Core strategies described in this plan are designed to build capacity among school leaders, teachers, parents, students and the community to ensure sustainability of best practice beyond the life of the grant. Implementation will focus on Human Resources, Partnership organizations and Extended School Time.

The staff will engage in ongoing PD that builds sustainable capacity. Partnerships were selected based on a proven track record of success using research-based strategies with struggling schools to improve student academic outcomes and positively impact social and emotional needs. A schedule of continuous PD, guidance, support and monitoring will be provided by the network with scheduled visits throughout the implementation of the grant to ensure the plan is implemented with fidelity. The plan is formulated to use a gradual-release model, in which there is intense support the first year which is lessened each consecutive year. Below is a chart illustrating I.S. 291's three-pillar approach to sustainable school improvement. The design reflects both SIG and non-SIG funding sources. Additional information regarding the partnerships including the rationale and their role in implementation is located in Section F: Partnerships.

B. Assessing the Needs of the School Systems, Structures, Policies, and Students

i. School-level Baseline Data and Target-Setting Chart (Attachment B)

See Attachment B

ii. Description of school's student population and needs of sub-groups

Roland Hayes is a middle school with 643 students from grade 6 through grade 8 located in the Bushwick neighborhood of Brooklyn. The school population comprises 21% Black, 78% Hispanic and 1% other students. The student body includes 10% English language learners and 13% special education students. Boys account for 54% of the students enrolled and girls account for 46%. 92.36% of the students qualify for free lunch and 7.64% qualify for reduced lunch. According to the statistics on NYC Coalition for Educational Justice <http://www.nyccej.org/college-readiness>, only 14% of students in the neighborhood graduate ready for college.

iii. Diagnostic school review of the school conducted by the district or NYSED

Since 2011, I.S. 291 has received 3 in-depth diagnostic school reviews. The 2011 JIT occurred during the time the former principal was the school leader. A brief summary of each review including capacity, strengths, and needs is indicated below:

- Integrated Intervention Team (IIT) March 2013 (Based on Preliminary DRAFT Report):
 - Strengths: The school leader creates a school community and learning environment with the input of stakeholders, which embraces and promotes student achievement.

- Needs: The CCLS aligned curriculum does not fully address appropriate differentiation for all student subgroups. Generic lessons lack opportunities to fully engage all learners in higher order thinking skills and differentiated learning especially for pertinent subgroups. Therefore, all students and subgroups are not experiencing high levels of academic achievement.
- Existing Capacity: There is increased capacity in terms of school safety and community engagement. The tone of the building is much improved and the school is positioned to accelerate school-wide improvement initiatives in the upcoming school year.
- NYCDOE Quality Review (QR) March 2013:
 - Strengths: The principal organizes resources, partnerships and time effectively to build teacher capacity and support instructional goals in order to achieve success in meeting students' needs.
 - Needs: Strengthen the delivery of lessons and curricula so that academic tasks promote higher levels of thinking and cognitive engagement for all students (1.1). Promote consistency in the use of instructional strategies and the delivery of lessons so that they fully challenge thinking to improve student learning (1.2). Improve the use of assessment results to ensure academic progress and inform effective instructional adjustments to meet the needs of all students (2.2).
 - Existing Capacity: The recent change in leadership resulted in the establishment of clear expectations for classroom practice and is being implemented through the lens of the Danielson teaching framework as well. The Instructional Leadership Team, teacher teams and instructional leads have built capacity in understanding CCLS and designing units of study aligned with the Common Core Learning Standards. Assessment data is available in the school's data binders. The school is well positioned for accelerating student outcomes in the upcoming school year.
- Joint Intervention Team (JIT) April 2011 (former school principal):
 - Strengths: The school provides a welcoming environment for the students, parents and caregivers. The school has developed a number of innovative extracurricular activities that are enriching the students' experience and enjoyment of school.
 - Needs: In the area of Leadership, the roles and responsibilities of the administrative team need to be redesigned in order to ensure that the duties and responsibilities of supervisors are maximized for all content area including ELLs.
 - Although there are comprehensive curriculum maps for ELA that are aligned with New York State (NYS) Standards in all content areas, these maps have had limited impact on the effective delivery of instruction in most classrooms and fails to focus on learning activities that specifically address the needs of struggling students.
 - Teachers are not fully using the assessment data to inform instruction in the classroom. Teachers are aware of the deficient skill areas of the students but are not consistently using this information to differentiate instruction in their classes.
 - Existing Capacity: Teachers are aware of the deficient skill areas of the students but are not consistently using this information to differentiate classroom instruction.

iv. Results from systematic school review

After each systematic school review, the school leader, leadership team, the Network Leader, Deputy Network Leader, and Network Achievement Coaches engaged in planning sessions regarding next steps to continue building capacity, expand upon strengths, and adjust practice to address school-wide needs and improve student achievement. The overarching themes raised in state reviews as well as Quality Reviews are: 1) Teacher Effectiveness: to strengthen teaching practice the Principal implemented Charlotte Danielson's "A Framework for Teaching." Supervisors engage in cycles of observations with actionable feedback. Trends are identified to create teacher goals and targeted PD; 2) Curriculum Development and Support: The school designed curriculum maps aligned with Common Core Learning Standards that incorporate essential questions, scaffolds for subgroups, information to help bridge what students know to what they need to learn and grade-specific performance tasks. Technology has been incorporated into lesson planning; 3) Teacher Practice; Teachers have established rituals and protocols in the classroom. Teachers are expected to use data to recognize trends in the academic needs, and use information to inform teacher planning and to set student goals. Teachers have also been programmed to have daily teacher team meetings.

v. Priority areas of identified needs for school's improvement

The principal instituted a newly constructed Instructional Leadership Team consisting of the Principal, Assistant Principal and Instructional Lead Teachers who were charged with the responsibility of reviewing school-wide data. The Instructional Leadership Team analyzed various school data reports; progress reports, state report cards, baseline and benchmark assessments, student work, teacher observations, parent surveys, etc., and then began to strategically prioritize areas for improvement. This data and a summary of school needs were shared at the School Leadership Team meeting and with the PTA executive cabinet. These constituency groups were invited to provide feedback. After considering the feedback, the Instructional Leadership Team consulted with the Network in order to prioritize the identified needs for the implementation of the SIG plan.

C. School Model and Rationale

i. Model rationale and key school design elements.

The school was selected for the Transformation model based on improvement practices already in place or planned that aligned with the federal principles for school turnaround. By rapidly strengthening the supports available to the school, the Transformation model will allow the school to move toward a stronger culture of teaching and learning.

The crux of the school improvement plan is to improve student outcomes by focusing on three main areas: 1) improving the effectiveness of the current staff; 2) enhancing the curricula for all students; and 3) intensifying support around student social emotional development.

One of the major challenges for the school has been, despite prior efforts to implement school improvement plans, the previous plans focused on flooding the school with new staff to promote change and not building capacity within the current staff or improving their practice. The prior models were not sustainable in that once the resources were depleted, the school could not maintain any positive changes because the lack of funding resulted in the new staff which helped foster the change were excessed. The previous plans of hiring excessive staff provided more triage rather a long term solution. The new school principal, planned to transform the school prior to this grant becoming available. Despite brutal budgetary deficits, she began strategically implementing small increments of her plan to transform 32K291. In spite of being stifled by the lack of funding, the various strategies the principal has implemented have shown some pockets of success.

The principal has been part of the Roland Hayes school community for a number of years and has witnessed cycles of ‘quick-fixes’ used in the school in the past. She is very familiar with all the school’s stakeholders and their strengths and weaknesses. She recognizes the importance of grooming the teachers and promoting leadership in the school thereby empowering the school community in taking responsibility and an active role in improving the school. For additional information, reference the SIG Key Design Elements Chart on Page 2 and the organizational structure in Attachment G of this grant.

ii. Process for model selection and stakeholder engagement.

A dedicated cross-divisional work group is in place to recommend whole school reform models for the NYCDOE’s 122 Priority Schools. The work group met weekly beginning in September 2013 to review school data points and alignment to one of the three intervention options: the School Improvement Grant plan, School Innovation Fund plan, or School Comprehensive Education Plan (SCEP) crosswalk. In early 2013, the work group began to focus specifically on examining candidates for the Transformation model. The group also consulted with the Clusters and Networks for feedback on any early wins or progress seen from supports already provided, or discussions they have had with principals. Schools that did not yet have the capacity or momentum to drive change under the model were removed from consideration. The group also removed schools that are already making huge strides in improving student outcomes and did not necessarily need the model to further enhance its efforts. Once the work group solidified its list of schools proposed for Transformation in April 2013, schools were officially notified about their eligibility to apply for the Transformation model and began working on their applications in late April. Information on stakeholder consultation and collaboration for the plan development is described in Section G. of the District-level plan and Section J. in the School-level plan.

D. School Leadership

i. Characteristics and core competencies sought for school principal

The school principal, Jacqueline Rosado, fosters a culture of excellence and collaboration at IS 291. She has cultivated an atmosphere of high expectations for students and staff and has created systems and structures to hold everyone in the school accountable in the educational process. Ms. Rosado models the analysis and utilization of data in order to make strategic decisions to move the school forward and increase student achievement. After examining trends in student data, groups of students are targeted for extra academic support. The principal strategically plans professional development based on teacher goals generated after reviewing areas for improvement noted on teacher observations, teacher reflection, and student data. In order to meet the needs of the school and improve student outcomes, Ms. Rosado is developing her staff to share leadership. She has created an Instructional Leadership Team comprised of lead teachers that support daily teacher teams. As the school leader, Ms. Rosado has structured the school program to facilitate that teacher teams meet daily in structured teams; either by department or by grade. Protocols have been put in place so that the teams use various forms of data to leverage improved student outcomes by working on specific strategies to help groups of students or to improve the school’s curricula. She has worked closely with the network to assess school needs and find creative ways to ensure resources and support is available for the entire school community despite budgetary constraints; she has expanded the arts by hiring a music teacher, she ensured that there was a teacher for the SAVE room (previously the school did not have a SAVE room), and she has ensured that teachers attend PD and can work with network achievement coaches. As a school leader, she purposefully involves staff, parents, and students in providing feedback in aspects of school-decision making, so that stake-holders can contribute and be empowered and as a means of gaining support within the school. Ms. Rosado believes that all students can learn and is passionate about ensuring that all students at IS 291 receive a quality education they deserve.

ii. Principal's biography

Principal Jacqueline Rosado Bio (Resume Attached: Attachment H):

Jacqueline Rosado was appointed principal at I.S. 291 in May 2012. Ms. Rosado worked as a teacher and AP in I.S. 291 since 1997. Among Ms. Rosado's accomplishments are her contributions towards revitalizing the staff and maximizing resources to compensate for an $800,000 deficit. She participated in the ALPAP program where she developed skills in prioritizing the management of resources.

Ms. Rosado was appointed to I.S. 291 shortly before it was designated a priority school. In addition to having exceptional organizational skills, her expertise in instruction for Students with Disabilities makes her an invaluable resource for the special education population which is approaching 22% of the student body. Through her relatively short tenure as principal she has redesigned several leadership roles and identified key constituency groups to further efforts towards meeting schoolwide goals. Through the SIG plan, Ms. Rosado will be provided the much needed fiscal and human resources required to accelerate progress towards closing the achievement gap for students in targeted subgroups.

Track Record of Success:

- Met all PPR Goals
- In ELA the school's Progress Report shows a .6% increase in students scoring on grade level.
- In Math the school's Progress Report shows a 2.3% increase in students scoring on grade level.
- English Language Learners made AYP in 2011-2012 in ELA, Math, and Science.
- Students with Disabilities made AYP in 2011-2012 in ELA and Math
- An analysis of instructionally targeted math assessments, grade 8 math students who were having difficulty with the content presented in class were provided with small group support, targeted instructional strategies and visuals such as charts, diagrams and illustrations to address common errors and misconceptions during the after school sessions. As a result, 90% of the students who participated in the after school sessions improved their performance as noted in work products and post assessment results.
- The combined efforts of all constituencies and the aligned supports for students have resulted in fewer suspensions, specifically from 58 suspensions reported from September 2011 through February 2012 compared to 17 suspensions reported from September 2012 to February 2013.

- The school's coordinated efforts in providing appropriate supports to meet the needs of students has resulted in improved attendance and a 75% decrease in students who report to school late as noted in Automate the Schools (ATS) reports.

iii. Supporting leadership job description and duties aligned to the needs of the school

The duties and responsibilities for Assistant Principals who service in IS 291 who will serve in the building are based on rigorous, competency-based skills developed in alignment with the NYC DOE School Leadership Competencies: Assistant Principals will be expected to foster a culture of excellence at IS 291 through by exercising personal leadership skills, use and model the use of data to set high learning goals and increase student achievement, leverage their deep knowledge of curriculum, instruction, and assessment to support teachers in improving teacher effectiveness to improve outcomes for student learning. Aps will build through the instructional cabinet a culture of leadership and development of staff to appropriately share leadership while building a strong school community. For additional information regarding the duties and responsibilities of Assistant Principals see Section G.

iv. Current supporting leadership profile for model and strategies for plan buy-in

Current Supporting Leadership Profile:

I.S, 291 is a former SURR school. During the years as a SURR school, the budget expanded allowing for increased supervision by adding a budget line for a third Assistant Principal. However, with declining registers and accruing debt, the Network Leader, Human Resources and Budget Directors worked closely with the school over the past two years to balance this inflated school budget to rein in the accruing great debt. However, these necessary budgetary cuts came at great sacrifice to much needed supports and leadership. Currently, the assistant principals are organized by content and grade. There are various instructional leads in place at the school to support instruction and develop curriculum in: Math, ELA, Science, Social Studies.

Working closely with the DOE's existing Cluster and Network Teams that support all schools, the School Implementation Manager serves as the project manager ensuring that schools and networks receive appropriate guidance, technical assistance, and coaching in order to improve outcomes for students and pedagogical practices through implementation of the identified intervention model. Among other responsibilities, the SIM is also responsible for managing the accountability structures put in place to assure ongoing monitoring and intervention in schools undertaking the intervention models, and are responsible for meeting federal reporting requirements related to schools' interim and summative performance.

School leadership Strategies: There is a shared vision among the school community and a sense of urgency regarding the achievement of the schoolwide goals. These goals were articulated to the staff and parents at the beginning of the school year, detailing all expectations with entire staff, student assemblies to introduce staff and discuss expectations, Parent/Family Orientations, Professional Development on expectations and strengthening of teacher teams, staff & students generate goals supporting the schools overarching goals and vision. The principal instituted a newly constructed Instructional Leadership Team charged with the responsibility of reviewing school-wide data to strategically prioritize areas for improvement and shared the data and plans with the school staff.

School leaders have also created opportunities for staff to collaborate in professional learning communities in which teachers create CCLS-aligned assessments, analyze the various forms of data, and determine progress towards goals and make adjustments to school-wide practices, pedagogy, curriculum, etc. This process ensures quality Teacher Teams which are supported by Instructional Leads who provide guidance to the teams as well as monitor the work of the teams. This information is brought back to leadership to be discussed during the Instructional Leadership Team.

The school leader has made strategic decisions in several areas and maximized the school's budget. The school budget is reviewed periodically to reallocate funds as necessary to support progress towards the achievement of school-wide goals as determined by examining school/student data.

- Human Resources: Strategic hires have been made; highly qualified teachers, a music teacher, a SAVE room teacher, and teachers strategically chosen for extended learning programs. There have been changes in staff (U-rated teachers, excesses, ATR assignments) and the development of Instructional Leadership Team in order to strengthen teacher teams.
- Programmatic changes include: Strategically leveraging monies to maximize time on task – combined 37.5 minutes with afterschool program in order to maximize time students spend in supplemental programs, programming music classes into the school program as enrichment for students, early morning program start date moved up due to student demand for additional academic enrichment/support. Special programs sporadically incorporated into the school day through partnerships and vendors; Lincoln Center Jazz, Respect for All assembly program featuring JLine Dance Crew (motivational young speakers), Fusha Dance Company, and Dance Teaching Artist providing 6 weeks of dance instruction to three 6th grade classes.

Ensuring Buy-In and Support

The strategies employed by the principal and assistant principals will ensure buy-in and support from the entire leadership team by maintaining an atmosphere of transparency. The team will analyze data from multiple sources to identify student learning trends, set goals, monitor and modify instruction, and increase student achievement. Through effective communication, the principal will continue to strengthen a school culture that relies on data to inform adult learning, professional development, and decision making. Teacher teams and the Instructional Leadership Team along with the School Leadership Team will engage in goal setting to implement a plan that builds strong sustainable teams, develops leadership capacity among staff, and shares responsibilities appropriately.

A clearly defined system of supports will be in place to develop all teachers to improve classroom teaching by establishing a culture for learning with clear expectations for academic success. This will be achieved through short frequent cycles of observation, feedback, coaching, and evaluating teachers and staff. Teachers will engage in self-reflection around the Danielson framework to challenge their thinking about what improved teaching practice looks like. The purpose is to establish systems that promote learning, collaboration, and communication throughout the school. Through the SIG grant plan the school will proactively ensure buy-in and support by engaging the school community in a process of assessing/anticipating needs and by taking actions to meet school goals.

Barriers or Obstacles to Obtaining Support as well as Strategies for Overcoming Them:

The school requires an assistant principal with a driving force in curriculum development and instruction. The school is now positioned for upward trends, however; in order to maintain this ground, the school will require the 3rd assistant principal with content knowledge who can accelerate progress, close the achievement gap and implement CCLS with continuity and fidelity. Additionally, the third assistant principal will play an essential role in maintaining close supervision through short frequent cycles of observation followed by timely and effective feedback in order to improve teaching practice. Without this additional supervisor, all of the progress made thus far will be seriously jeopardized. Additionally, due to the severe shortage in budget, providing necessary resources, supplies, PD, etc., would inhibit the school from moving forward and slow their progress which is why acquiring this grant is crucial.

E. Instructional Staff

i. Current school staff overview and changes needed for model

Current School-Specific Staffing Picture

The school has reorganized in order to meet the City-wide Instructional Expectations of the NYC Chancellor. The current organizational structure comprises of Assistant Principals (2), Math and ELA Lead Teachers (2), and Instructional Leads (members of the instructional cabinet) that lead teacher team meetings which take place during the school day and are scheduled by grade. In an effort to build capacity within the existing staff key positions will be funded under SIG.

Change Needed in School Staffing

In order to build capacity within the existing staff there are several key positions that will be necessary within the Instructional Leadership Team. A dedicated coach in both ELA and Mathematics will provide comprehensive instructional coaching in Literacy and Mathematics. They will directly collaborate with teachers and provide specific strategies for improved instructional delivery. They will serve as a direct resource in identifying appropriate research-based instructional strategies and interventions to improve achievement in literacy and mathematics. Specific emphasis will be placed on appropriate strategies for improvement in the academic achievement of English Language Learners, Students with Disabilities, and struggling readers. Coaches will not carry a teaching load, but will spend the majority of their time modeling and conducting demonstration lessons for classroom teachers, collaborating with Lead Teachers and administrators in determining appropriate resources and support for teachers.

Lead teachers will have classrooms that will serve as a model for utilizing best practices and demonstrating new and effective teaching strategies and curriculum. They will also support the professional development of other teachers by assisting them with setting goals in order to improve teacher practice, facilitating regular grade level or subject area planning meetings, and building trust and collegiality among teachers. Instructional leads have been identified in each grade level and content area. These leads will support the Instructional Leadership Team in moving the instructional agenda.

ii. Characteristics and core competencies of instructional staff to meet student needs

Next year’s teacher leaders will be:

Ms. Waite – 8th grade ELA	Ms. Richards- 6 th grade Math	Ms. Jubica – Science
Ms. DePace- 8 th grade Math	Mr. Duverneau – 7 th grade Math	Mr. Morales – ELLs
Ms. Nicholson – 7th grade ELA	Ms. Carbado – 6th grade ELA
Ms. Stanislas – Special Education	Ms. Shakespeare – Social Studies

To support instruction, the Literacy and Mathematics Coaches and teacher leaders will work closely with one another with the goal of developing leadership and expertise. The Literacy and Mathematics Coaches will meet with each teacher leader twice a week in order to help examine assessment results, plan model lessons, and develop artifacts to be used as resources by the rest of the school. Model lessons, activities, and resources will all be memorialized and made available for later use through their addition to an online wiki space.

To develop capacity, the Literacy and Mathematics Coaches will co-plan and co-deliver professional development sessions with each teacher leader, and will co-facilitate Teacher Team meetings with each one on a rotating basis. This will help ensure that the school retains a core group of leaders to depend upon in future years. Teacher team meetings will include curriculum assessment and refinement, and lesson planning using component 1e of the Danielson Framework for teacher practice, and examination of assessments such as tests and student writing and Common Core-aligned end of unit tasks completed by students. As the tasks are assessed and discussed, the teams will add commentary and use select pieces as benchmarks for unit plans. Teacher Teams review student work and discuss strategies for implementing CCLS and collaborate to include supports for struggling students, ELLs and SWDs in the curricula as well as make modification to the curricula driven by the analysis of student work. The instructional strategies and revisions support students with the rigors associated with CCLS and support students in making progress to achieve their goals. Lessons are CCLS aligned.

The Literacy and Mathematics Coaches will not work solely with teacher leaders. As teacher and student needs are identified through both observations and formal assessment results, the Literacy and Mathematics Coaches will be asked to meet with teachers in need of support. Expectations for their work include records of topics discussed, mutually agreed-upon next steps for both coach and teacher and plans to measure the impact of their work together. The Literacy and Mathematics Coaches will operate with the goal of transforming teacher need into teacher expertise. As with the teacher leaders, model work will be memorialized.

Identified Instructional Leads will turnkey and support CCLS expectations and implementation. Instructional Leads will facilitate Professional Development and take advantage of Professional Development opportunities (including visiting exemplary schools).

iii. Process and action steps taken to inform existing instructional staff about model

The school leader will meet with the network staff to discuss resources and options. The Principal will then meet with the school's instructional leads during an Instructional Leadership Team meeting and teachers during a faculty conference and if more in-depth conversation is necessary, during their C-6 teacher team meeting. The SLT will be informed of the model being implemented and will be given an opportunity to provide feedback to this process.

iv. Formal hiring mechanisms for instructional staff, strategies to assign necessary staff

A citywide "open market" staff hiring and transfer system is available every year from spring through summer that principals may use to identify school pedagogical staff seeking transfers as well as those who wish to specific vacancies or schools. Principals are thus able to recruit, screen, and select instructional staff new to their schools based on need. While principals have discretion over the schools' budget and staffing decisions, one barrier that schools may face are hiring restrictions set by the district for certain subject areas, grade levels, and titles or licenses. Exceptions are given in certain cases based on critical needs such as for high-need subject areas and new schools. Schools are also supported by the human resources directors from their networks on budgeting, recruiting and hiring procedures. In addition, all principals have access to online human resources portal for up-to-date data and activities related to talent management. Similarly, resources are available to instructional staff on recruitment fairs, workshops, school vacancies, transfer options, as well as professional development, citywide award programs, and leadership opportunities to promote staff retention.

The process and identify the formal school mechanisms that enable all instructional staff to be screened, selected, retained, transferred, and/or recruited.

Prior to hiring a candidate, their credentials are verified by our Network’s HR Director to ensure that the candidate holds a valid NYS certification in that license area. The BEDS survey is reviewed by the Principal and the HR director who work with our school to ensure that every teacher’s assignment aligns with their license.

Identify any barriers or obstacles to assigning the appropriate staff as required by the model and school design, as well as strategies for overcoming them.

In the very rare event, if a teacher’s status was deemed not HQT, the principal would consult with the network Human Resources Director for guidance to ensure that the non-HQT teacher will meet all required documentation and assessment deadlines. This may include some form of counseling including encouraging the teacher to become HQT through the High Objective Uniform State Standard of Evaluation (HOUSSE) system.

E. Partnerships

i. Partner organizations working with school and their roles under SIG

Partner Organizations	Reasons	Role in implementation / Expectations

ii. Evidence of Partner Effectiveness Chart (Attachment C)

See attachment C.

iii. Partner accountability

Both parties will use benchmarks based on various sources of data to determine their respective responsibilities, as outlined in an action plan. Action plans and progress toward benchmarks will be revisited on a bi-monthly basis. If services are not yielding expected outcomes, both parties will determine where the accountability lies, create a plan of action to ensure future benchmarks are met, and act accordingly. If there is little or no progress being made, the plan of action will be revisited and revised as necessary.

G. Organizational Plan

i. Organizational chart

See I.S. 291 School Organizational Chart labeled as "Attachment G."

ii. Day-to-day operations under the school's structure

Governance and Management: I.S. 291 has developed a strategic plan for indicating the manner in which it will operate. This includes one Principal and three assistant principals. There will be an AP ELL, AP ELA/Social Studies and AP Math/Science. Under this SIG plan, the school will engage in a distributive leadership model by re-instating 2 Coaches (1 ELA and 1 Math) and will continue to maintain 2 Lead Teachers (1 for ELA and 1 for Math). The Instructional Leadership Team is composed of the above mentioned staff members who will meet weekly in order to assess progress towards schoolwide goals and act as a think tank for removing obstacles that inhibit student growth. This team will perform duties and responsibilities as described below:

School's Operating Priorities:

Principal: The principal is the instructional leader who monitors the implementation of all school initiatives and oversees Galaxy and all budgetary decisions including the following:

- Interpret, enforce and develop school policies and procedures aligned with School-based decisions, and state and federal law.
- Provide leadership in the recruitment of Highly Qualified staff members and as well as oversee teacher selection and assignment.
- Provide leadership for and share responsibility in the development and implementation of a yearlong professional development plan that improves teaching practice and outcomes for students.
- Supervise and evaluate staff performance through the lens of Danielson.
- Develop, maintain, evaluate, implement and enhance curricular and extracurricular programs that reflect student achievement and growth in the cognitive demand.
- Adherence to the Citywide Instructional Expectations including Danielson and CCLS.

- Foster a positive safe learning environment for staff, students, parents and the community through the utilization of effective communication skills.
- Work in collaboration with school leadership teams to develop long- and short-term plans, goals and objectives through a systematic needs assessment process.
- Provide educational and administrative leadership in making and carrying out decisions
- Provide leadership in the development of effective student support services including in student attendance, discipline and external partnership.

Delegation of Responsibilities/Relationships with Key Stakeholders

Assistant Principals: This position's responsibilities are to provide leadership and build a structure of collaborative relationships in the school and community so that all students have a variety of opportunities to succeed and be productive members of the community. These duties will include but not be limited to:

- Implement an evaluation system of teacher effectiveness through the Danielson Rubric.
- Engage in actions that contribute to the achievement of schoolwide goals.
- Provide instructional leadership for school staff; identifies, implements, and monitors school-wide strategies that challenge high achievers and accelerates learning for students in the bottom third based on the NYC Progress Report.

- Assist in developing appropriate professional development opportunities designed to improve skills in teaching early adolescents.
- Assist in the development, implementation and evaluation of data-driven assessment in collaboration with the Instructional Leadership Team
- Monitor and evaluates staff implementation of school improvement plans and effective instructional and assessment practices.
- Maintain a safe and orderly school environment
- Uphold the school discipline code aligned with the NYCDOE Discipline code utilizing discipline data to track effectiveness of behavioral interventions.
- Assist with the development of effective community relationships; conducts activities that increase community support.

Coaches and Lead Teachers: Coaches and Lead Teachers will work with school leaders, school teams and individual teachers to provide support in improving teaching strategies. Qualitative data (looking at student work) along with quantitative data (assessment trends) will be utilized to support teachers in developing lesson plans with multiple entry points, and to develop questions and strategies and scaffolds for learners with a diverse range of needs. Additionally, Coaches and Lead Teachers will carry out the duties indicated below:

- Develop and support a culture of reflective feedback among teachers.
- Collaborate in designing, developing and professional learning programs that model principles of adult learning and promote best practices in teaching, learning and assessment.
- Support teachers in adapting curriculum and instruction to meet individual needs of students.
- Coach teachers, model best practices, co-teach and provide feedback to teachers
- Maintain and submit written logs to document professional development throughout the school year.

iii. Annual professional performance review (APPR) process

Our school will implement New York City's newly approved APPR plan for teachers beginning in the 2013-2014 school year. Central staff and our Network team will support us with training in the new system this summer. We may revise our plans for implementation as we better understand the new evaluation system, and all elements related to principal and teacher evaluation contained in this application will be consistent with the Commissioner of Education's determination and order dated June 1, 2013 regarding the NYC APPR, Education Law 3012-c, and NYSED regulations.

Beginning in the 2013-14 school year, teachers will select from one of two options during the Initial Planning Conference, to take place by no later than the last Friday in October: Option 1) 1 formal observation and a minimum of 3 informal observations or Option 2) A minimum of 6 informal observations. The formal observation will have a pre-observation conference where the teacher can provide up to 2 artifacts and/or a pre-observation conference form. The observation will be a full period and the teacher will be rated on the Danielson rubric. A post observation conference will be held within 20 days and a post observation report will be provided to the teacher and put into the file. Informal observations will be unannounced and a minimum of 15 minutes. Feedback will be provided after informal observations in person or using some other form of communication. A pre and post observation conference is not required, but a post observation report will be provided to the teacher and filed within 90 school days of the observation.

A summative End of Year Conference will take place between the last Friday in April and the first Friday in June. Teachers can provide artifacts for review/discussion at the Conference. Artifacts must be submitted no later than the last Friday in April. If the Principal needs more artifacts to rate a component, they must request them of the teacher. If the teacher does not provide, they will be scored as Ineffective (1) on that component. Teachers will be provided with forms including rubrics with evidence statements.

The IS 391 principal and administrative team will carry out the citywide instructional expectations implementing Daniels using the plan instituted this past year. The schedule will be maintained by the APs and principal.

iv. Calendar of events for the 2013-2014 school year

The Central 2013-14 Teacher Evaluation and Development timeline is provided in attachment K Overall, Initial Planning Conferences will occur in the early Fall and Summative End of Year Conference will occur by June 27. Measures of Teacher Practice will occur between the Initial Planning Conference and the first Friday in June. Our school will select local measures of student learning by September 9, and pre-tasks for NYC performance tasks and 3rd party assessments will occur by October 15. Please refer to attachment K for further detail. As discussed in section iii, we will implement the NYCDOE's newly approved APPR plan for teachers beginning in the 2013-2014 school year. We may revise our plans for implementation as we better understand the new evaluation system, and all elements related to principal and teacher evaluation contained in this application will be consistent with the Commissioner of Education's determination and order dated June 1, 2013 regarding the NYC APPR, Education Law 3012-c, and NYSED regulations.

H. Educational Plan

i. Curriculum.

Expeditionary Learning's English Language Arts and Literacy curricula will serve as the foundation for the ELA curriculum, though the units and lessons will not be delivered exactly as packaged. During the summer of 2013, the Instructional Leadership Team will examine on a daily basis the Expeditionary Learning units using the lens of the Tri-State Quality Review Rubric for Lessons & Units to ensure full alignment to Common Core, promotion of the Six Shifts, instructional supports for teachers and students (including ELLs and SWDs), and a system of regular assessment are all present. When necessary, modifications will be made to ensure alignment to Common Core and the New York State Testing Program, as well as ensure rigorous engaging work, and multiple entry points, for the student population.

The Instructional Leadership Team will make necessary modifications to the units to promote alignment with Science and Social Studies curriculums. The Team will consider content and skills in their curricular decisions. For example, Expeditionary Learning's 7th-grade Curriculum Map lists slavery as the focus for the 3rd module and water as the focus for the 4th module. The units may be flipped so that the slavery module would be horizontally aligned with Social Studies' Civil War and Reconstruction unit, as outlined in the New York City Social Studies Scope and Sequence. Students would still have the prerequisite background knowledge for the water unit, as weather and the water cycle are covered in the 6th-grade science curriculum.

Pearson Learning, Connected Mathematics Project, CMP3 curriculum and resources will serve as the foundation for the Math curriculum. During the summer of 2013, the Instructional Leadership Team will begin their professional development sessions as part of the New York City Department of Education's roll out of the prescribed common core aligned curriculum. The teachers will then begin to re-write or update the curriculum maps, using the lens of the Tri-State Quality Review Rubric for Lessons & Units to ensure full alignment to Common Core, promotion of the Six Instructional Shifts, instructional supports for teachers and students (including ELLs and SWDs), and a system of regular assessment. When necessary, modifications will be made to ensure alignment to Common Core and the New York State Testing Program, as well as ensure rigorous engaging work for the student population.

The curriculum will be adapted so that units of instruction will lead to common tasks and common assessments throughout 6th, 7th, and 8th grade levels. The teacher lesson plans will be written using a common template and clearly articulate the strategies identified and suggested from teacher team inquiry analysis.

ii. Instruction.

Lead Teachers will focus on strategies for building content knowledge (in ELA, Science, and Social Studies & Math) with an emphasis on students attaining information through engagement with text, as opposed to passively receiving information through lecture. Students will be exposed to a variety of discipline-specific authentic texts, with instruction reflecting the approaches dictated by the authentic texts. Disciplinary literacy will be a major focus, with teachers modeling unique to the content areas. Social studies teachers, for example, will emphasize the thinking historians lean upon heavily, such as using sequence of events to determine cause and effect. Science teachers will show students how different scientific texts require different types of summaries.

As part of the model classroom Lead Teachers will demonstrate best practice regarding questioning, classroom discussions, daily assignments, and assessments to allow all students the opportunity to employ higher-order thinking (DOK 3-4) in content areas to ground their thinking in text. Whether students are drawing conclusions, making predictions, or sharing assertions, they will always be required to refer to text to explain and support their thoughts.

To focus on the shift involving Academic Vocabulary, teachers will share with students strategies specific to the vocabulary demands of their content areas. In Social Studies, teachers will cover strategies for determining the denotative and connotative meanings of words. In science, teachers will support students' understandings of word roots, prefixes, and suffixes, as academic scientific vocabulary relies heavily on these components. ELA teachers will center support around Tier II words in order to increase access to a wide range of information texts, with strategies including multiple opportunities to hear vocabulary, multiple opportunities to use vocabulary in discussions, and direct word study.

Mathematics

Shift One: Focus: Instructional Strategies:

Students will build upon their prior work in measurement and in multiplication and division to include an in depth understanding of the concepts and language of ratios and unit rates. Ratio and proportion are addressed for an extended period of time as compared to previous years, to extend teaching and learning beyond the basic concept of writing and solving proportions. This allows for the idea of proportional relationships which leads to a deeper understanding and ability to view proportions from different perspectives. Delving deeper into slope/rate of change in the real world, we begin preparing our students for ninth grade mathematics.

Shift Two: Coherence: Instructional Strategies:

Students build on their experiences with ratios, unit rates, and fraction division to analyze proportional relationships. They decide whether two quantities are in a proportional relationship, identify constants of proportionality, and represent the relationship using equations. The ability to explore rate of change to a deeper level allows for a connection to slope. This provides a direct connection to the study of slope and linear functions.

Shift Three: Fluency: Instructional Strategies:

Students expand their understanding of the number system and build their fluency in arithmetic operations with and without a calculator. Fluency is developed and reinforced through the grades and within the grades by using rational numbers in problems in all modules. Use of calculators promotes fluency in executing basic calculations. Students are able to use money references or calculators to confirm solutions. Teachers help students become more fluent in fractions, decimals, long division, and operations with integers. Teachers expose students to the use of graphing calculators in comparing slopes.

Shift 4: Deep Understanding: Instructional Strategies:

All rational and irrational numbers are manipulated on number lines and the coordinate plane. Students use a double number line, bar diagrams and acquire the ability to compare their values using inequalities. The extended study of proportional relationships gives the opportunity to deconstruct and explain the foundational concepts behind proportional relationships. Students are able to solve systems of linear equations using graphing, substitution or elimination methods. Students are also able to see how systems of linear equations work in order to design and solve real world problems when there are two unknown quantities, and comparing results for cost effectiveness.

Shift 5: Application: Instructional Strategies:

Students apply these skills to compare rational numbers in real life situations; example: temperature comparisons, ocean depths, elevator movement. Proportional relationships are applied to cooking recipes, travel speeds and scale drawings. Students will be able to use their understanding of proportional relationships to solve real world problems involving scale drawings, currency conversions, and finding unit price for comparison of best bargains. Students are able to see how systems of linear equations work in order to design and solve real world problems when there are two unknown quantities. Students learn how to make informed decisions comparing the cost of two or more related values.

iii. Use of Time.

School days each year will not be fewer than 180 days. The 2013-2014 school year will be 183 school days. School will be in session Monday-Friday from 8:00 AM to 2:20 PM for core instruction. Targeted students will receive small group instruction for an additional 37.5 minutes. The 37.5 minutes has been restructured with extended learning time in order to increase student instructional time.

Supplemental instruction will be offered Monday – Wednesday from 7:00 AM to 8:00 AM, Monday – Wednesday from 2:23 PM to 5:00 PM, and on Saturday from 9:00 AM to 12:00 PM.

Please refer to Attachment I for sample schedule.

iv. Data-Driven Instruction/Inquiry (DDI).

Assessment will play a major role in instruction. Each unit will have a pre-assessment, an interim assessment, and a post-assessment. Assessments will be a combination of multiple choice and written response. Teachers will be provided with rubrics corresponding to each written assignment, and digital spreadsheets used to enter and examine student scores. During the initial implementation of each unit, teachers (with the support of the Literacy Coach) will examine student work during Teacher Team meetings in order to accomplish a number of goals. They will evaluate work according to corresponding rubrics, determine trends representing strengths and weaknesses, and create a portfolio of student writing benchmarks to be added to their units. The student writing benchmarks will be used both for future evaluation, and as models to be shared with students.

Teachers will receive professional development focused on using the data tracking software, defining the different types of trends (student, teacher, class, and grade) that data may elucidate, and how to recognize said trends. Professional development will be differentiated according to teacher familiarity with technology, as well as experience examining trends. When necessary, support will be provided in a one-on-one context.

The principal, through her vision has managed to build a data driven culture that relies on data to feed into identifying how best to teach our students. This functional cycle is part of that culture and is an integral part of our teaching. The Data-Driven Inquiry instructional cycle is a process that helps teachers identify strategies on how to maximize student learning and involves assessment analysis and action planning.

Teacher teams systemically analyze key elements in teacher practice as well as assessment data in Mathematics and ELA, and student work including portfolios, assessments, group work interactions, etc. which results in shared improvements in teacher practice (e.g. rigorous tasks, well-sequenced units, effective instructional techniques) and mastery of goals for groups of students; Mathematics/ELA specialists and teachers exchange student data to create richer portraits of student learning needs and achievements.

In the beginning of the school year all students will be given a Common Core Aligned baseline assessment which is provided through Pearson Publishing. Pearson Publishing is also the provider of the math class text book and teacher resources. Once the baseline assessment is given, teachers will begin the process of grading their individual class assessments and identifying common trends and deficiencies to be shared with other teachers in the same grade level, during their common planning period. The schedule is listed below:

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
Inter-disciplinary Student Work Analysis	Content Area Curriculum Writing, planning and updating, pre-assessment preparation, end of unit assessment preparation/ Student Work Inquiry	Writing, pre-assessment assessment	Inter-disciplinary Student Work Analysis	Student Data Analysis/ Aris/ACUITY, DataCation

The baseline assessment will give teachers valuable information on areas that need to be targeted to maximize student learning and targeting individual student needs. These targeted areas of instruction will be addressed during one period per week (AIS) Academic Intervention

Services, during the regular school day and provide the entry points for differentiated instruction. This information will also be used to identify the students who will populate the various after-school, before school, and Saturday Academy programs for extended learning (enrichment and remedial classes), targeting the bottom third of the school, the bottom third of every class, and our over aged population.

A benchmark assessment will be administered in all grade levels after the completion of two units of instruction as outlined in the “Chancellor’s Expectations”. The benchmark assessment results will be used during teacher inquiry to further adjust the content curriculum and continue to target individual student learning goals. The two benchmark assessments will be given prior to the New York State Mathematics and English Language Arts Assessment. After the state assessment the last two units will be taught and a final exam will be given. In addition to the baseline, benchmark, state assessment, and final exam, teachers will write an end of unit common assessment to be administered after the completion of every unit. Teachers will also give students quizzes before the unit assessment is given. A sample of our Data-Driven Instructional cycle is listed below:

Teacher inquiry teams meet every day and are part of two distinct teacher teams:

- Inter-disciplinary teacher team
- Content specific teacher team

The inter-disciplinary teacher teams meet every week on Mondays and Thursdays during their common planning time, (C6). Their goal is to analyze student work and look at individual student progress based on data acquired from their assessments. The role of the content specific teacher teams will help to further target the areas of instruction in ELA and Mathematics to further our goal in reaching Annual Yearly Progress goals.

Once the inquiry process has taken place, teachers meet and set up the process that will put in action the strategies that have been identified by the data. These include:

- Set up action plans for the students, student goals, action plans, AIS,
- Changing instructional strategies
- Revising the role of teacher leads: Modeling instruction, providing professional development, using the Danielson Framework to improve teacher practice.
- Modifying the curriculum by adjusting the curriculum maps and how it should be taught and modified based on student data.
- Professional development training for teachers in areas of weakness based on student academic performance.

Teacher teams meet four times per week to analyze data and determine student achievement, performance, reflect on their instructional practice, and determine the necessary intervention focus for their students.

v. Student Support.

The school cultivates an environment in which all students feel safe and supported and each student is known by an adult in the building. Throughout the year, working closely with their students teachers get to know their students academic needs, but may also identify social-emotional needs of their students. If necessary, students are referred to counselors – either the school counselor or the social worker (Counseling in Schools). Referring students to be seen by the counselors is a coordinated effort, matching the student with the best support aimed at his/her needs. A school administrator and the school counselor greet students each morning. PPT meetings are held monthly to coordinate support for students around student needs; additional academic support, behavior, disengagement, truancy, drop-out, interventions chosen to support them. Various members of the team are selected to follow-up with students and monitor progress.

In an effort to innovate and sustain quality counseling for our Middle School population; I.S. 291 is seeking to bring on board a social worker that can provide services especially geared to our population of students. The social worker will serve at-risk young people from grades 6-8 and between the ages of 11 to 17. The school social worker will serve as an integral part of the school culture, conducting on-going case management, individual counseling, group counseling, referral services and crisis intervention. The school social worker will serve as the link between home, school and the community. As members of the educational team comprised of teachers, administrators, pupil services staff, and parents, our school social workers will promote and support students' academic and social success by providing specialized services that include: They will also conduct individual and group counseling relevant to individual and student population, provide support groups to students and their parents, allowing for transparency of services and regular interventions, and assist in crisis prevention and intervention, conducting regular home visits.

Collaborating with the parent coordinator, the school social work staff will also help develop parent education and training. The social work staff will also collaborate with community agencies, advocate for students, parents, and the school system, and coordinate programs such as, mentoring, school-to-afterschool programs, and peer counseling, and staff development.

The school social worker would help students increase academic success, maximize educational opportunities, improve interpersonal relationships, cope with crisis situations, develop self-discipline, learn problem-solving and decision-making skills, resolve conflicts without violence, improve attendance, build self-esteem, and remain in school and graduate.

Currently the one dean mediates conflict, and is critical to the enforcement of I.S 291's Discipline Code. The dean works hard to prevent conflict in its earliest form, and enlists the help of other staff members when settling conflicts with students when necessary. The social worker would serve as an additional support to deans in terms of monitoring academic progress, student attendance as it impacts student academic standing and achievement, academic intervention, incentives and all other academically related student issues.

vi. School Climate and Discipline.

The school maintains a welcoming environment and has made significant improvement in safety and school climate. The fact remains that the student population in the school are extremely needy and are burdened with a multitude of issues. The staff has received overviews in Life Space Crisis Intervention but has not been able to be fully trained. The School would like to partner with LSCI to incorporate PBIS and train more staff in the de-escalation techniques used in LSCI. Incorporating this into daily practice in tandem with the school's progressive discipline approach would solidify the manner in which the staff approaches the student. The LSCI approach views problems or stressful incidents as opportunities for learning, growth, insight, and change for children with chronic patterns of self-defeating behaviors.

vii. Parent and Community Engagement.

Formal and informal strategies IS 291 will be used to encourage parent/family involvement and communication. All programs and initiatives described in the SIG plan are aligned with the Title I requirements for parental involvement, as well as Part 100.11 regulations outlining requirements for shared decision-making in school-based planning. The goal at IS 291 is to continuously build parent capacity and awareness so that parent and school can work collaboratively to increase student achievement. Specific actions and strategies to increase family and community involvement are indicated below:

- Provide parents with translated information regarding new Core Curriculum, student placement, school activities, student services, this SIG grant and other relevant programs.
- Provide an accessible parent/family information and resource center to support parents and families with training, resources, and other services with resources for English Language Learners (ELLs) and Students with Disabilities (SWDs)
- Coordinate ESL classes for parents.
- Provide staff development, for all school staff, regarding effective communication techniques and the importance of regular communication between the school and the family.

- Continue to institute a parental involvement policy that supports and respects all families, recognizing cultural and religious diversity.
- Establish a way for immediate and regular contact between parents and teachers when concerns arise.
- Facilitate communication between school and home and providing parents easy access to their children's progress (through Pupilpath)
- Link parents to programs and resources within the community that provide support services to families.
- Share reports on school performance with parents and solicit input for future goals.
- Provide information on how parents can foster learning at home, give appropriate assistance, monitor homework and give feedback to teachers.
- Expand parents' decision-making capacity regarding their child's educational options and needs by providing professional development workshops for parents of all students including parents of ELLs, bilingual students and SWDs.
- Enable parents to internalize the significance of student periodic common assessment results, report cards and skills analysis of their children's performance on State standardized assessments.
- Communicate with parents continually through teacher contact, administrative and support staff contact, student progress reports, letters published in English and in languages spoken in the homes.
- Gauge parent and community satisfaction through the administration of a school specific parent survey and by administering the School Survey. Data from the formal and informal parent surveys will inform goal setting and planning that addresses parent and community needs.
- Family Worker will be hired to provide attendance outreach, home visits, translations, coordinate monthly attendance meetings, follow up on 407's, work with Long Term Absences, attend PPT meetings to support students and families who are at risk.

I. Training, Support, and Professional Development

i. School leadership/staff involvement in SIG plan development

The UFT Consultative Committee, School Leadership Team, and Instructional Leadership Team worked with the principal to identify goals and set priorities. Instructional leads met with their departments in order to review interim benchmark data and refine goals. The Principal, Lead Teachers, and Instructional Leadership Team began the process of developing the plan, identifying professional development needs and partnerships.

ii. Year One Implementation Period (September 1, 2013, to August 31, 2014).

Rationales

- Common Core Staircase of Complexity: In order for students to achieve college and career readiness, they must be exposed to the standards specific to the grades they are in. Furthermore, standardized tests assess student progress towards corresponding grade-level standards. Currently, many lessons focus on skills that defined by the CCLS as the work of elementary school grades. Teachers must ensure that their instruction is centered specifically on the standards for the grade. This work needs to take place during the summer prior to the academic year so that the standards are properly reflected on curriculum maps.

- Text Complexity: The reading levels demanded by the Common Core represent a significant increase in complexity over previously demanded Lexile levels. State test passages reflect this increased demand. The tenth standard for reading both informational and fictional texts requires that students read texts in the 6-8 grade bands. When determining the appropriateness of texts required for all literacy-related curriculum, planning teams need to be able to measure a text quantitatively and qualitatively. Doing so effectively and accurately will help ensure students have access to texts similar to those found on state exams.
- Backwards Planning towards Performance Tasks: If teachers are not teaching towards the performance tasks specified on curriculum maps, student scores are unlikely to reach the interim goals set for each unit. Teachers should understand how a performance tasks guides the lessons, vocabulary, and skills covered in the unit lesson, so that all work moves in a purposeful direction.
- Effective Modeling: Teacher lessons at the school have largely focused on defining terms, skills, and strategies for students, but without modeling for students how to employ skills and strategies. Teachers need to become comfortable with the modeling process so that they do more than simply defining the criteria for tasks; they will provide students with the tools necessary to succeed on their tasks.
- Argument Writing: In order to maintain the high level of rigor and critical thinking required by the Common Core, curriculum maps and performance tasks need to contain opportunities for students to think argumentatively and write argumentatively, as opposed to persuasively. Adhering to the characteristics of argument writing will also help ensure that students are writing from sources and using text evidence, instead of relying on emotion and their own codes of morals and ethics.
- Pearson Learning: In an effort to improve upon the findings from the Tri-State Quality Review's Statement of Practice 4.2, (Teachers use instructional practices and strategies organized around annual, unit and daily lesson plans to meet established student goals and promote high levels of student engagement and inquiry), Pearson's job-embedded coaching offers intensive support for schools wishing to build capacity.
- Pearson Learning November: In an effort to improve upon the findings from the Tri-State Quality Review's Statement of Practice 4.4 (Teachers create a safe environment that is responsive to students varied experiences, tailored to the strengths and needs of all students, and leads to high levels of student engagement and inquiry)
- Pearson Learning September Implementations Essentials: Building on its work over the past three school years to support teachers and school staff with the transition to the Common Core, the New York City Department of Education is recommending a set of math K-8 curriculum options and will spend the coming months supporting principals and teachers in becoming familiar with these new materials. One of these options for math grades 6-8 is Pearson's Connected Mathematics Program. Pearson has been selected by I.S. 291 to provide the textbook and teachers resources necessary to continue to provide math instruction that is rigorous and aligned to the Common Core Standards.
- Pearson Learning October Grade-Specific Unit Training: Participants experience model lessons using one unit from the CMP3™ program and strategize ways to engage students in all three parts of the instructional model. This workshop allows participants to focus on the mathematical content and experience various strategies for problem solving within the unit. Participants solve problems, discuss mathematical concepts, and work together to reflect on effective strategies for implementing CMP3™ into their classrooms. At the end of this workshop, participants will be prepared to successfully implement the unit in their classrooms.

- Achieve 3000: Achieve 3000 is a research-based program with proven outcomes for supporting ELLs.
- LSCI: As the result of our high incident rate from last year, I.S. 291 is now considered an IMPACT school. The student population is at a high risk of violent and destructive behavior that undermines the classroom learning environment.

iii. Plan for training, support and professional development

Work with each external partner will begin with a collaborative examination of relevant data, with the goals of setting mutually agreed-upon benchmarks that are both measurable and time-bound. Both parties will use the benchmarks to determine their respective responsibilities, create deadlines for the completion of responsibilities, and specify the individuals who will complete the necessary actions. Benchmarks and responsibilities, along with related details such as deadlines and the resources necessary, will be added to an action plan.

The action plan and progress toward benchmarks will be revisited on a bi-monthly basis. If services are not yielding expected outcomes, both parties will determine where the accountability lies, create a plan of action to ensure future benchmarks are met, and act accordingly.

Services will be monitored and various types of data (student work, teacher team outcomes, assessment results, teacher observations, etc.) will be collected to determine if progress towards established goals is being made. If there is little or no progress is being made, the plan of action will be revisited and revised as necessary, should there be no progress after adjustments are made barring extenuating circumstance that would impede progress towards the objective, the partnership would ultimately be dissolved.

Saturday Teacher Professional Learning: Once per month on Saturday, departments will engage in a professional learning community provide PD around curriculum mapping, looking at student work to inform curricula decisions, Core Curriculum Overview, scaffolds, multiple entry points.

J. Communication and Stakeholder Involvement/Engagement

i. Method of regularly updating school stakeholders on SIG plan implementation

The NYCDOE and the Priority School fully and transparently consulted and collaborated with education stakeholders about the school's Priority status and on the implementation of the SIG plan. Upon designation of the school as a Priority School by the New York State Education Department in August 2012, the NYCDOE sent letters to superintendents, clusters school support staff, and principals about the school's Priority School designation.

Principals were provided with letter templates to send to parents with the instructions that families must be notified of the school's Priority status within 30 days of the State's designation. Principals were also invited to two different meetings with Senior Deputy Chancellors Shael Suransky and Marc Sternberg on August 31 to learn more about the school's Priority status, intervention model options, and next steps for the NYCDOE and school. Superintendents, clusters, networks school support staff, and principals participated in trainings on the ESEA waiver and Priority status to turn-key the information to stakeholders. NYCDOE staff also presented the information directly at information on state accountability designations and implications during Community Education Council meetings, a meeting of the Panel on Education Policy, and other community meetings.

As the Priority School developed its School Improvement Grant, it was required to consult and collaborate with its stakeholders, including leaders from the principals' union, teachers' union, and parent groups. The NYCDOE asked schools to submit Attachment A, the consultation and collaboration form, in addition to doing district-level consultation and collaboration, with leaders in the following groups: Council of Supervisors & Administrators (CSA; principals' union), United Federation of Teachers (UFT; teachers' union), and Chancellor's Parent Advisory Committee (CPAC), NYCDOE parent leadership body. By doing so, the NYCDOE sought to ensure that consultation and collaboration took place at the school-level in addition to the district-level. When it was brought to the attention of the NYCDOE that further school-level consultation and collaboration efforts needed to be made, the NYCDOE extended the deadline for submission of Attachment A and provided additional guidance to schools to ensure appropriate consultation and collaboration took place prior to submission of the SIG plan.

The Priority School will continue to regularly update stakeholders on the implementation of the SIG plan. The SIG plan will be an agenda item for discussion in the monthly School Leadership Team meetings, the shared decision-making body of the school, along with typically monthly Parent Teacher Association or other parent group meetings. In addition, the school will provide a letter to families and other stakeholders about the status of the school's SIG plan upon the start of the 2013-14 school year and annually thereafter. The NYCDOE will provide the Priority School with a letter template to utilize, similar to the school's designation as a Priority School.

I.S. 291 will continue to maintain a policy of transparent consultation and collaboration with key educational stakeholders such as administrators, teachers, parents and community based organizations. These constituencies were also informed of the SIG grant and were consulted regarding the implementation of the SIG plan. Key stakeholders who serve on various school committees will meet regularly to assess, plan, evaluate and suggest improvement strategies regarding the implementation of SIG programs.

K. Project Plan and Timeline

i. Goals and key strategies for Year One implementation period (September 1, 2013, to August 31, 2014)

The goal for year one is to begin building teacher capacity through the staffing and PD for current staff, enhancing the curricula, and intensifying support for students' social-emotional development. The foundation for this work will begin this spring. Beginning in April, reviewing various data sources to determine needs. The principal in consultation with key-stakeholders determined the above to be key leverage points through which school improvement can occur. The foundation for the work that will begin in June with PD. Prior to the partnerships for PD, the network will provide PD to ensure that all teachers begin the school year with a common understanding and vision for the work ahead (chart one in section Iii).

Work with external partners will begin with a collaborative examination of relevant data, with the goals of setting mutually agreed-upon benchmarks that are both measurable and time-bound. Benchmarks will be revisited on a bi-monthly basis. If services are not yielding expected outcomes, both parties will determine where the accountability lies, create a plan of action to ensure future benchmarks are met, and act accordingly. Services will be monitored and various types of data (student work, teacher team outcomes, assessment results, teacher observations, etc.) will be collected to determine if progress towards established goals is being made.

i. “Early wins” as early indicators of a successful SIG plan Early wins that will serve as indicators of successful implementation is improvement in teacher lesson planning, improved trends during teacher observations, student progress in benchmark and interim assessments, as well as increased parent involvement. Additionally, use of DataCation and Prosper by the staff, as well attendance at PDs would serve as evidence of increased buy-in to the plan.

ii. Leading indicators of success to be examined at least quarterly Services will be monitored and various types of data (student work, teacher team outcomes, assessment results, teacher observations, etc.) will be collected to determine if progress towards established goals is being made. Improvement in teacher lesson planning, improved trends during teacher observations, student progress in benchmark and interim assessments as well as increased parent involvement would be monitored bimonthly by the principal and the instructional team. Additionally, use of DataCation and Prosper by the staff, as well attendance at PDs would serve as evidence of increased buy-in to the plan which would be monitored by the principal on an on-going basis will be leading indicators of success.

iii. Goals and key strategies for Year Two and Year Three of implementation

The goal for years two and three is to continue building teacher capacity through the staffing and PD for current staff, enhancing the curricula, and intensifying support for students’ social-emotional development. Using a gradual release model, the hope is that the foundation of improving teacher effectiveness, the curricula, and student support, will continue but need less outside support in years two and three in that staff will provide support to one another and serve as models for incoming staff.

Attachment B MEMO: School-level Baseline Data and Target-Setting Chart Methodology Used for Data

This memo explains the methodology used to determine the district average, school baseline, and/or school targets for indicators in Attachment B. Notes are also given for indicators where schools are unable to set targets at this time.

- a. Number of minutes in the school year: The school's baseline data for 2010-11 was determined based on the number of instructional days in the school year and the minimum required daily instructional time (5 hours for grades 1-6 and 5.5 hours for grades 7-12).
- b. Student participation in State ELA assessment
- c. Student participation in State Math assessment
- d. Drop-out rate
- e. Student average daily attendance: Calculation based on aggregate of days students were present divided by days present + absent for school year 2010-11.
- f. Student completion of advanced coursework: High Schools: This includes Advanced Placement, International Baccalaureate, college-credit courses, etc.
- g. Suspension rate: Represents the number of suspensions as reported to SED (School Report Card) divided by the number of students enrolled in 2010-11.
- h. Number of discipline referrals: Represents total count of Level 3-5 incidents in 2010-11
- i. Truancy rate: K-8: Aggregate number of students absent 30% or more divided by register.
High Schools: Aggregate number of students absent 50% or more in 9-12 divided by register.
- j. Teacher attendance rate: Calculated based on 2010-2011 school year: $1 - (\text{total absent days} / \text{total active days})$

Absent days: defined as total of time teachers were reported to be absent for discretionary reasons (personal, sick, and grace period) during 2010-2011 school year. Excludes school holidays and weekends, or when teachers were otherwise not required to report to school.

Active days: defined as all days where teachers were to report to school based on DOE school calendar (excludes school holidays, snowdays, and weekends) where they were in the title of teacher, and were not on leave or sabbatical.

- k. Teachers rated as "effective" and "highly effective": Data for percentage of teachers rated "Effective" and "Highly Effective" (HEDI categories) does not exist for all schools at this time. Please note that targets will be set for teacher ratings once the new evaluation system is underway. All elements related to teacher evaluation will be consistent with the Commissioner of Education's determination and order dated June 1, 2013 regarding the NYC APPR, Education Law 3012-c, and NYSED regulations."
- l. Hours of professional development to improve teacher performance

This may include the following types of professional development activities:

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • PD to implement Common Core-aligned curriculum, including specific curricular programs (e.g., core curriculum adoptions) • PD to build a shared understanding of Danielson's Framework for Teaching and develop a shared picture of effective teaching • PD to understand the new system of teacher evaluation and development • PD to implement Response to Intervention (RtI) • PD for teachers working with English Language Learners • PD to implement Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports (PBIS) • Observation and feedback to individual teachers • PD/mentoring to support new teachers • PD to implement CTE courses in which increased percentages of historically underserved students will enroll 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • PD to implement Advanced Placement (AP), International Baccalaureate (IB), and/or Cambridge courses in the subjects for which NYSED has approved an alternate assessment, and in which increased percentages of historically underserved students will enroll • PD to implement virtual/blended AP, IB, and/or Cambridge (AICE or IGCSE) courses in the subjects for which NYSED has approved an alternative assessment, and in which increased percentages of historically underserved students will enroll • PD to implement Expanded Learning Time (ELT) opportunities that may include art, music, remediation and enrichment programs • Teacher team meetings in which teachers plan lessons and units that integrate the Common Core instructional shifts can be a form of professional development if teachers are supported in doing this work

Note: A large and well-regarded federal study of PD programs (Yoon et al., 2007) found that 14 hours was the minimum amount of time that yielded statistically significant impact on student outcomes; i.e., 14 hours of PD on a particular topic or coherent set of topics, as a coherent PD experience, rather than 14 disconnected one-hour workshops. More than 14 hours of professional development showed a positive and significant effect on student achievement—the three studies that involved the least professional development (5–14 hours total) showed no statistically significant effects on student achievement. Teachers who received substantial PD—an average of 49 hours among nine studies—boosted their students’ achievement by about 21 percentile points.

m. Hours of professional development to improve leadership and governance

This may include the following types of professional development activities:

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Regular meetings in which school leaders: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Review data and establish an instructional focus ○ Evaluate curricular alignment with standards in all content areas ○ Plan and adjust PD to support implementation of the school’s curricula ○ Plan and adjust PD to improve instruction • Regular meetings in which team leaders develop facilitation, data analysis, and planning skills • PD specifically designed for teacher leaders, principals, and assistant principals, including PD provided to principals at network meetings • Support for instructional coaches, teacher leaders, and others in conducting evidence-based observations using the Danielson rubric, providing coaching and feedback on instructional practice, and developing/assessing student learning objectives as part of teacher evaluation system • Support for school leaders supporting teachers with the new teacher evaluation and development system 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Support for highly effective teachers who mentor, coach, or provide professional development to student teachers, new teachers, or teachers rated as ineffective, developing, or effective in high-needs schools • PD for principals/ instructional supervisors regarding the implementation of CTE courses in which increased percentages of historically underserved students will enroll • PD for principals/instructional supervisors regarding the implementation of Advanced Placement (AP), International Baccalaureate (IB), and/or Cambridge courses in the subjects for which has approved an alternate assessment, and in which increased percentages of historically underserved students will enroll • PD for principals/instructional supervisors regarding the implementation of virtual/blended AP, IB, and/or Cambridge (AICE or IGCSE) courses in the subjects for which NYSED has approved an alternative assessment, and in which increased percentages of historically underserved students will enroll

n. Hours of professional development in the implementation of high quality interim assessments and data-driven action

This may include the following types of professional development activities:

- Teacher team meetings in which teams review student work products and other data to adjust teaching practice (“inquiry team meetings”)
- Professional development on creating and using periodic assessments
- Training on information systems that track assessment outcome

II. Academic Indicators

o. ELA performance index

p. Math performance index

Due to changes in the State tests to align with the Common Core standards, changes are anticipated in schools’ Performance Indices. While the school’s PI from 2010-2011 is provided as baseline, targets for each year of the grant will be set once more current data on schools performances are available.

q. Student scoring “proficient” or higher on ELA assessment

r. Students scoring “proficient” or higher on Math assessment

Due to changes in the State tests to align with the Common Core standards, changes are anticipated in schools’ proficiency rates. While the percentage of students scoring ‘Proficient’ or higher is provided from 2010-2011 as baseline, targets for each year of the grant will be set once more current data on schools performances are available.

BUDGET NARRATIVE - JHS 291 ROLAND HAYES (32K291)

Primary SIG activity	Category	Description of Budget Item	Year 1	Year 2	Year 3	Total Years 1-3	Sustainability
Curriculum	Professional Staff - Hourly or Per Diem Stipends (Code 15)	Hourly teacher per session - for teachers to attend professional development opportunities by partnering organizations and members of the Instructional Leadership Team to support teachers in improved planning, preparation, and development of units of study and lessons that support the effective implementation of the new Core Curricula in literacy and math and alignment with CCLS	31,544	31,544	8,818	$71,906	Per session funds will continue to be used for teachers to attend professional development opportunities; however, due to possible funding limitations there may be a need to reduce the duration and frequency of some PD sessions.
Data Driven Instruction/Inquiry (DDI)	Professional Staff - Hourly or Per Diem Stipends (Code 15)	Hourly teacher per session will allow time for two distinct teacher teams - inter-disciplinary teacher teams and content specific teacher teams . The inter-disciplinary teams meet during CG common planning time to analyze student work and look at individual student progress based on data acquired from their assessments. The content specific teams further targeted the areas of instruction	108,812	54,000	27,000	$189,812	In the event that per session funds are limited, teacher teams will continue to meet during CG common planning time in accordance with the School Based Option and during regular professional development days.
Instruction	Supplies, materials Supplemental books and Software (Code 45)	Technology equipment under $5,000 per unit such as Mac Book Pro and iPads will be used as instructional tools to enhance the instructional program and further alignment with CCLS including scaffolds and multiple entry points for ELLs and SWDs. Consumable workbooks in ELA and Math such as Ready and Rally will be used to supplement the Core Curriculum in both content areas.	159,750	135,000	90,000	$384,750	The school secures DOE IT services and a full time Technology Coordinator who will repair and maintain technology equipment purchased through the grant. Consumable workbooks will be purchased with Tax Levy Funds.
Instruction	Supplies, materials Supplemental books and Software (Code 45)	DataCation is a web based program designed to increase efficiency and ability of teacher teams to determine data trends and use trends to guide instruction. Achieve 3000 and iReady is academic software that is used as an academic intervention program in ELA and Math. Both software programs have an assessment component for teachers and teacher teams to track student proficiency levels.	67,765	47,766	47,765	$163,296	The school will seek alternate funding sources to continue the use of these software licenses.
Parent and Community Engagement	Support Staff (Code 16)	1.0 FTE Family Worker - to provide attendance outreach, home visits, translations, coordinate monthly attendance meetings, follow up on 407's, work with Long Term Absences, attend PPT meetings to support students and families who are at risk	30,275	30,275	30,275	$90,825	Family Worker position will be sustained based on register growth.
Student Support	Professional Purchased Services (Code 40)	Counseling in School will provide additional student support services to students and families. This organization has demonstrated track record with bringing quality counseling and targeted programs to students and their families. The goal is to work with at risk youth in areas such as attendance and academic success.	50,000	50,000	50,000	$150,000	Counseling in school will improve the mental health of students and families to increase their capacity and address social/emotional problems in a more productive manner, thus reducing the need for supplementary counseling support.
Student Support	Professional Staff (Code 15)	1.0 FTE Social Worker - will be serving young people from grades 6-8 and between the ages of 11 to 17. The school social worker will serve as an integral part of the school culture, conducting on-going case management, individual counseling, group counseling, referral services and crisis intervention. The school social worker will serve as the link between home, school and the community.	84,611	84,611	84,611	$253,833	The school will conduct a needs assessment to determine if there is a need for a supplemental social worker. Should there be a need based on the student population, the school will identify various funding streams to maintain a part time social worker.
Training, Support, and Professional Develop	Professional Purchased Services (Code 40)	To implement a sustainable model for improvement a three pillar research-based system was developed. A crucial element of this plan is to select partners with a track record for building capacity among school leaders, teachers, parents, students and the community. Key partners include Pearson, Danielson, Gold Mansour (WED) Internationals Network for Public Schools (ELLS) and Counseling in Schools . These partner organizations will accelerate school efforts to meet goals outlined in the SIG plan.	455,661	312,700	169,000	$937,361	The expectation is that Key partners including Pearson, Danielson, Gold Mansour (WED) Internationals Network for Public Schools (ELLS) and Counseling in Schools will build sufficient skill with various constituencies so that the school will achieve its shared goal of College and Career readiness and will grow capacity to develop the ability train those new to the school.
